The New-York Times.

VOL. XXI.......NO. 6250. NEW-YORK, MONDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1871. PRICE FOUR CENTS.

LAST DAYS OF THE RING.

Prominent Officials to be Arrested at Once.

Charges of Fraud and Malfeasance to be Preferred Today.

Names on the City Pay-Rolls in Four of the Departments.

The Secret Accounts so Long Promised and Withheld.

Pulpit Denunciations of the Tammany Thieves.

We can state upon the highest authority that affidavits have been prepared upon which an application will be made to one of the Police Justices, this morning, for warrants for the arrest of prominent officials of the City Government for fraud and malfeasance in office.

The secret accounts, giving the expenditures of the City Government for the first quarter of the present year, which have been so long withheld, after having been sent to the Common Council, and then placed in the hands of the New-York Printing Company, and which, together with those for the rest of the year thus far, Mayor HALL has from time to time promised to give to the public and failed to do so, will be found in our columns today. It was the evident intent of the Mayor to withhold them until after election. We have obtained them without his assistance.

We also give the City pay-rolls of four of the Departments, among which will be found that of the monstrous bureau of extravagance conducted by Mr. TWEED. Many of the names are purely fictitious, and, consequently, will only be recognized by the thieves who signed them. Others are those of men who are held as retainers of the head of the Department to perform the dirty work upon election days. The remainder of the pay-rolls, comprising the Departments of Finance, Buildings, City Courts, Boards of Assessors, and Revision and Correction, and others, will be given to-morrow.

OFFICIALS TO BE ARRESTED.

Energetic Action of the Committee of Seventy—The Corporation Contractors to Give up the Plunder or Tell Who has it—Ring Officials to be Arrested.

The Committee of Seventy have commenced work in thorough earnest, and exciting times may, in consequence, be expected in the Courts this week. Together with the suits commenced on Saturday against INGERSOLL and BOLLAR, to compel them to answer certain charges of fraud against the City, processes are out against GARVEY, KEYSER, and JAMES W. SMITH, the awning-maker, to force them to come forward and answer charges of a similar nature. The object of the present suits is twofold. First, to make them give back whatever money they received which may be considered in excess of fair pay for the work done and the materials supplied, and secondly, if their claims were dishonest, and they did not receive the amounts of their claims, to compel them to tell who caused their claims to be made out dishonestly, and who received the money. The defendants will be required to bring all their own books and accounts into the Supreme Court, Chambers, so that they may be compared with the statements of their claims in the Controller's Office. If any of them attempt to flee the City till these proceedings are terminated, they will be arrested immediately.

The Committee of Seventy, through Ex-Mayor WILLIAM F. HAVEMEYER, will, in the early part of this week, commence criminal proceedings against "the Ring," and warrants will be applied for the arrest of those who are known to compose it.

A reporter called yesterday afternoon on Judge BARRETT at his residence, No. 24 West Thirty-eighth-street, and the following conversation ensued:

REPORTER—Judge, I have called to learn if there is anything new regarding these legal proceedings in which you are so busily engaged.

Judge BARRETT—Well, not much. I presume you have seen that we have brought suits against INGERSOLL and BOLLAR, to make them disgorge the plunder?

REPORTER—And if they show that their claims are dishonest, and that they have received only fair pay for their work, what then?

Judge BARRETT—We will compel them to tell who caused their claims to be dishonest, so that suits may be taken against them. We have commenced work now in earnest, and we will make these plunderers disgorge. You will see startling revelations made in the Supreme Court to-morrow.

REPORTER—Do you believe these parties will stay in the City?

Judge BARRETT—If we find any of them attempting to flee from justice we will have them arrested at once.

REPORTER—But do you believe they will remain?

Judge BARRETT—As for myself, I do not believe one of them will remain. If they did the Ring could not stand an hour, and of course every effort will be made to prevent its being broken up.

REPORTER—There is a rumor that criminal proceedings are about being commenced against TWEED, HALL, CONNOLLY, SWEENY and others. Is that the fact?

Judge BARRETT—I can't be personal; but it is so that criminal suits will be commenced this week against "the Ring."

REPORTER—What Court do you believe these complaints will be made in?

Judge BARRETT—I can't tell you anything more definite at present.

REPORTER—Very likely at Essex Market, before Justice SHANDLEY?

Judge BARRETT—We do not care what Court. We will go into the first we find, and don't care whether it is a Ring Justice or any other that presides. The people are aroused, and the greatest Tammany Justice in the City dare not refuse us warrants.

REPORTER—Even for the arrest of TWEED?

Judge BARRETT—Yes; even for the arrest of TWEED, if we ask it. If TWEED himself was on the bench I would make him sign a warrant for his own arrest.

The reporter then withdrew.

THE CITY PAY-ROLLS.

Departments of Public Works, Law and Legislation and the Mayor's Office—Nearly a Million of Money to the Four Departments in Salaries Annually.

The bogus bills paid to INGERSOLL & Co., KEYSER & Co., and others of that ilk, are hardly less glaring evidences of abominable fraud than the accounts of the various offices of the City and County Government for salaries paid to a legion of political retainers as employes of such offices. Hundreds of names are to be seen on the pay-rolls, of persons who not only never performed any service for the City, but are totally incapable of doing it. Indeed, it is said that there are a number of persons who are paid as clerks, and accredited to that perfect gold mine of plunder, the Department of Public Works, who are absolutely unable to write their own names, and are simply rewarded by the money they draw monthly for services rendered their masters in defrauding the honest community of the effect of their franchises. The names of a few professional bruisers are to be seen upon the pay-rolls, and JIM CUSICK and JOE COBURN are said to receive their monthly stipend under assumed names, and in the same classification and in the same Department is said to be the name af the Forger himself and several other disreputable journalists. Hon. MICHAEL NORTON, who has risen (!) from the dignified post of rattan-man, delegated to preserve order among the bootblacks in the classic precincts of "Four Forty-four," to the position of a State Senator, is said to have no less than twelve of these lucrative sinecures.

Deputy Controller GREEN is paying especial attention to these fraudulent pay-rolls, and the assiduity with which he is urging the investigation has caused the greatest consternation among the City pay receivers. Owing to want of space the TIMES is only able to give the parties drawing pay from the City in four of the Departments in this edition, namely: The Department of Public Works, the Legislative Department, the Mayor's Office and the Law Department. To-morrow it is proposed to complete the list with the names and amounts in the Departments of Finance, the City Courts, Board of Assessors, Board of Revision and Correction, and Department of Buildings. It is asserted that the fictitious names of employes at the City Courts are even more numerous than in the Department so munificently lavish which Hon. WILLIAM M. TWEED exclusively controls.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS.

As has been already stated the Department of Public Works is considered the "fattest thing" in the gift of the Municipality, and of course fell to the lot of the great Absorber himself. The Department comprises the Old Croton Board, the Street Department, and several other rare bits, which Mr. TWEED appropriated to his own individual benefit.

Mr. TWEED has a salary of $10,000 per annum, besides almost an unlimited amount for "contingencies." A little over 200 persons are ordinarily employed in this Department, but its amplitude at the approach of an election can be extended indefinitely, so that any number of retainers could be carried upon the rolls with the assistance of the Controller. The amounts given are the monthly payments, and are taken from one month of the first quarter of 1871.

D. P. Conyngham, Ass't Insp'r of Incumb's	75 00
Thomas R. Keator, Apportionment Clerk	100 00
Total for one month	$30,974 06

This sum paid as salaries alone makes the stupendous yearly aggregate of nearly $400,000 to Mr. TWEED and his subordinates, and the total for the month from which the above figures were taken was far below the minimum amount monthly drawn for salaries by the Department of Public Works.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

This Department is represented on the pay-rolls by the Board of Aldermen and Assistant Aldermen and an army of clerks and messengers, all handsomely paid. There are fifteen Aldermen, twenty-one Assistant Aldermen, twenty-nine clerks and messengers to Aldermen, and twenty-one clerks and messengers to Assistant Aldermen. One gentleman is very happy in the somewhat enviable position of ornamental clerk, and draws nearly $300 a month for allowing his name to appear on the rolls.

The following are the salaries paid our Municipal law-makers and their clerks and other attachés:

John Hardy, Clerk to Common Council	$625 00
Francis L. Twomey, Deputy Clerk B'd of Ald.	625 00
John Foard, First Assistant Clerk	291 66
A. J. Fullerton, Second Assistant Clerk	250 00
Patrick Reilley, Third Assistant Clerk	208 33
Frederick L. Vultee, Fourth Assistant Clerk	208 33
Cornelius Gillen, Fifth Assistant Clerk	208 33
Patrick Keane, Sixth Assistant Clerk	166 66
William J. O'Neil, Seventh Assistant Clerk	208 33
Daniel Collins, Eighth Assistant Clerk	208 33
John Sullivan, Advertising Clerk	208 33
Thomas Nelligan, Engrossing Clerk	250 00
Edw. F. Brennan, Assistant Engrossing Clerk	208 33
Saml. E. Warren, Ornamental Engrossing Cl'k	291 66
John H. Munn, Messenger	150 00
William J. Fagan, Assistant Messenger	150 00
James O'Brien, Messenger for Office	150 00
Wm. Barclay, Librarian and Engrossing Clerk	208 33
Charles H. Pents, Assistant Librarian	208 33
Patrick Kearney, Janitor City Library	150 00
Terence P. Smith, Sergt.-at-Arms Board of Ald.	208 33
Cornelius Callahan, Ass't Sergeant-at-Arms	208 33
William Furlong, Reader	150 00
Bryan McMahon, Messenger to President	208 33
James Walsh, Door-keeper	150 00
Frank McMullin, Official Reporter	291 66
Edw. Bruchs, Messenger to Librarian	208 33
James B. Murray, Clerk to Librarian	166 66
Thomas Coman, Prest., and fifteen Ald., each	4,999 95
Terence Duffy and twenty-one Ass't Ald., each	6,999 93
Total for one month	$23,799 74

The above total gives annual payment to the Legislative Department solely for salaries of nearly $300,000.

THE MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Twenty persons, including the Mayor, are employed in this office. There are six Marshals, a Record Clerk, Copying Clerk, Sergeant-at-Arms, Interpreter, two messengers, a Private Secretary, and five subordinate clerks. Mr. TIMOTHY GOLDEN, the Mayor's man Friday, rejoices in being both Sergeant-at-Arms and an under clerk.

The following are the amounts monthly drawn by Mr. ABRAHAM OAKEY HALL and his subordinates for services such as they rendered the good people over whom they rule, on the eve of the July riots:

A. Oakey Hall, service as Mayor	$625 00
Charles O. Joline, Chief Clerk	375 00
Daniel T. Hart, First Marshal	291 66
Herman Schroeder, Second Marshal	250 00
G. D. Cardozo, Third Marshal	229 16
Benjamin Moore, Fourth Marshal	208 33
E. J. Hall, Fifth Marshal	208 33
James C. Goldsmith, Sixth Marshal	250 00
Louis P. Tingle, Record Clerk	166 66
Henry D. Hoyt, Copying Clerk	83 33
Timothy Golden, Sergeant-at-Arms	166 66
Frank Reiffert, Interpreter	145 83
Frank O'Donnell, First Messenger	145 83
John Hoey, Second Messenger	145 83
J. M. Hoel, Private Secretary	291 66
D. M. Nagle, Clerk	125 00
Timothy Golden, Clerk	83 33
P. A. Levein, Clerk	83 33
John Brady, Clerk	83 33
David Davis, Clerk	83 33
Total for one month	$3,999 93

It will be seen that it costs the tax-payers nearly $50,000 per annum for the one item of pay for services rendered in the Mayor's office.

The Law Department.

The salaries alone for the Law Department, of which Mr. RICHARD O'GORMAN is the head, amount to nearly $70,000 a year, and notwithstanding the legal advice thus preciously estimated, the sum of $1,256,321 49 was recovered in 1870 from the City by judgments obtained against it. Mr. O'GORMAN receives, besides his munificent pay, a monthly allowance of $1,000, in lieu of clerk hire. The Corporation counsel pockets this little plum, hires clerks ad infinitum, and sends in their wages under the head of "Contingent expenses—Law Department."

Richard O'Gorman, Corporation Counsel	$1,791 00
Thomas C. Fields, balance of Corporation Attorney pay, 1871, for January	1,250 00
Richard O'Gorman, monthly allowance in lieu of clerk hire	1,000 00
Gratz Nathan, First Clerk to Corporation Attorney	250 00
John Callahan, Second Clerk to Corporation Attorney	208 33

CRIMES OF THE RING.

Fresh Foreign Comments on the Revelations of the Times, the Course of Tammany and the Temper of the People.

From the London Times, Sept. 20.

There seems at length some hope that the citizens of New-York will make a vigorous effort to purge their Municipal Administration from the corruption by which it is now rendered infamous. In consequence of the exposure by the NEW-YORK TIMES, a meeting was held on the 4th of this month, in the Cooper Institute, which seems to have been one of the largest ever assembled in the City. It was attended by all classes of the inhabitants, by rich merchants, professional men, and artisans, and by members of both political parties. It is described as most indignant and enthusiastic; and a reporter declares, in the NEW-YORK TIMES, that if Messrs. HALL, CONNOLLY, SWEENY, and TWEED could have heard the curses, hisses, and denunciations which were heaped on them by the audience and the speakers they must have been crushed on the spot. They would have felt "too mean to live." We are afraid one of the speakers displayed better judgment in saying he had no faith "in the efficiency of violent and passionate accusations," and that the important question is that which is said to be insolently asked by the Tammany Ring, "What are you going to do?" But it is an important step in advance that respectable merchants, ex-Governors and Judges should have the energy and courage to come forward publicly and denounce these transactions as they deserve. * * * The issue is of interest, not merely to the inhabitants of New-York, but to all citizens of the United States, and, indeed, the friends of popular self-government throughout the world. Most of the speakers expressed a feeling that not merely their party, their City, but their very institutions were disgraced by the existence of so enormous a scandal. We wish we could anticipate for the reforming movement a speedy success, but its promoters, as will be seen from the resolution just quoted, anticipate a prolonged contest, both legal and political. It is this which must be considered the most extraordinary and most discouraging part of the affair. That corruption and peculation should have found their way into the administration of a vast and comparatively young municipality is not altogether surprising; but it is indeed wonderful that when it is discovered its perpetrators should be able to hold their own without any serious attempt at justification. The officials of New-York are accused of the most wholesale and barefaced robbery. They have taxed the City and mortgaged its property for the payment of accounts which, as was justly said at the meeting, "are not merely monstrous, they are manifestly fabulous." They pretend, for instance, to have paid to one firm the sum of more than $5,060,000, or more than £1,000,000, "for chairs, carpets, &c.," for the Municipal buildings, and they put down a sum of £570,000 for plastering and repairing. Under their administration the debt of the City has increased since 1869 from six millions to twenty millions, while the revenue is more than four millions a year. In consequence, as was stated at the meeting, the burdens of local taxation are grievously oppressive to all classes in New-York, and are damaging the prosperity of the City, while the men who are responsible for this fabulous expenditure have sprung into sudden wealth, and are living in extravagant luxury. Now, let us conceive such charges as these brought against a public official, such as a Lord Mayor, in this country. Would either he or the public think of asking more than one question—whether the accusation were true? If it were true even in part, there would at once be an end of the matter. The inculpated persons could not hold their positions a day, and would never dream of attempting to do so. In New-York, on the contrary, the simple exposure seems to be received by those whom it affects with the coolness of practiced speculators. It is an awkward blow at their place, power, and party influence, but they think it enough to say that the charge is made for party purposes, and they prepare, in spite of it, to contend for the position they hold. Their first reply has been to take a mean revenge on the NEW-YORK TIMES for its share in exposing them. The land on which the building of that journal stands was formerly devoted to ecclesiastical purposes, and was acquired some fourteen years ago under a special act. The City, as represented by the inculpated officials, has now suddenly revived an old claim to it, and, though it will probably fail, it is said the Corporation will consider themselves successful "if they can get a receiver into THE NEW-YORK TIMES office under the ruling of a Tammany Judge." The shameless tactics of the "Erie Ring" are openly adopted by the Municipal Government of the first City in the Union; public opinion is unable to put them down; and a struggle on the scale of a great political contest will be necessary to assert the authority of common morality. It is difficult not to think that there must be some general laxity in the tone both of private and of public feeling before matters could be brought to such a pass. But there is one special cause in operation which goes far to account at once for the helplessness of the respectable citizens and for the audacity of the peculators. The question is entangled almost inextricably with party politics. It is sensibly urged by one gentleman that it is essential to render municipal questions independent of political party, but he does not say how this is to be done. There is a demand for a new charter and a total change in the system of government. The Committee have evidently an arduous task before them; but we trust they will address themselves to it with vigor. More instances than one throw at the present moment a deep suspicicion over those institutions which are sometimes thought to have the future of the world before them. Our Paris correspondent mentions this morning that frauds have been brought home to the republican Administration of M. GAMBETTA which will bear comparison with any charge against the Empire. For our part, we believe such matters depend less on institutions than on the tone of public and private honor. If the great body of the citizens of New-York regard strict integrity as the first essential in all departments of life, and are determined to uphold it, they will find the means of doing so. But if party interests are allowed to assume the first place in their thoughts, it will not much matter, as one speaker confessed, which party is in power. The evil will be checked for a time only to recur in a new and perhaps aggravated form.

From the Daily News, Sept. 20.

New-York has literally nothing to show for these few recent years of enormous expenditure. The money has simply gone to keep up a base organization, and to enrich a gang of swindlers. The New-York public have mainly themselves to blame. The merchants who were too busy in making money, the gentlemen who were too refined to dabble in city politics, must only pay the penalty now. They not merely opened the stable door, but they freely announced that they were too busy or too dignified to look after the steed. Of course the thieves came in and stole him. Let the thieves be now punished by all means, and the doors watched for the future. But we have not very much pity for those who only now at last begin to see that they ought to have earlier paid some attention to what really was, and is, and must be, their own business.

THE VOICE OF THE PULPIT.

Corrupt Officials Sternly Rebuked—They Have the Mark of Cain upon Their Inmost Souls—Address by Rev. Dr. Burchard in the Thirteenth-Street Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Dr. BURCHARD, pastor of the Thirteenth-street Presbyterian Church, delivered a sermon yesterday morning to a crowded audience. While the sermon was one applicable to all times and places, it was peculiarly effective, as being directed against the public vices, crimes and robberies, the recent exposure of which by the TIMES and other papers has so aroused the community. Under his first head the Doctor said: There are men in this City occupying the highest official positions, living in luxury on their hoarded plunder, who, whatever may be the decision of the civil Courts in relation to their guilt or innocence must have the mark of Cain branded upon their inmost souls, and though they may continue to live in their palaces of splendor, they must ever feel a sense of self-degradation unless lost to all shame. There is a poverty more galling than that of the beggarman; it is the poverty of one who has lost his self-respect. There is a punishment more unendurable than incarceration; it is the penalty inflicted from a sense of lost virtue. If it must be so let me lose my last farthing, and be reduced to the extremest want; let me beg my bread from door to door; let me be bereaved of my dearest friends; let me be an exile and a wanderer, and let the greatest external calamity befall me; but let me retain my self-respect, the proud consciousness of an untarnished manhood, and I have a source of enjoyment which material loss and bereavement cannot touch. The man without guile is the rich and happy man—of all others to be envied. You may safely send him to the Legislature or to the Senate, and he will scorn the offer of bribes. You may elect him Mayor of your City, or appoint him Controller, or Commissioner of Public Works, or Parks, and he will not suddenly arise from poverty to affluence through theft of the people's funds. He is above all this, and the public interests are safe in his hands. Under his second head, the Doctor spoke of some exceptional cases, and showed that, though public confidence cannot be maintained without integrity, some men may for a time thrust themselves into honorable positions, which they pollute by their presence. He said, we are amazed when we look at the falsities which everywhere pervade modern life. People not only make falsehoods, but they wear them, act them, live them, and one-half of what we see, hear, taste, touch or feel of the professions and doings of men is bogus, counterfeit, shoddy. The veriest reptiles in human shape sometimes crawl up into prominent and public places, leaving their filth on everything they touch, but they must sooner or later be ejected from the places they have polluted by the indignation of a virtuous community. What we need, what this City needs in our public men to secure a return of general confidence, is integrity, honesty in the conduct of our municipal affairs. The Doctor held up as worthy of emulation the character of those noble beings whose lives will bear the test of scrutiny, and passed a scathing rebuke against those men who fear to have their actions examined. The sermon throughout was in sympathy with the spirit of reform that has been awakened.

Punishment Demanded for the Offenders—Plain Talk on the Corruption of Our City Government—Sermon by Rev. David Mitchell.

At the Canal-street Presbyterian Church, yesterday morning, Rev. DAVID MITCHELL preached from Proverbs, thirteenth chapter and thirty-fourth verse, "Righteousness exalteth a nation." In the course of his address he said: If New-York has her dark shadows, so have all the large European cities. All will acknowledge that this County and this City have attained a most undesirable notoriety before the world. Unrighteousness has been seen rearing her head in the high and low places of the nation. The record of the past three months is perfectly appalling. Crimes of intemperance, of passion, of lust, of neglect, of murder and others too awful to mention have followed each other in frightful rapidity. Patriots stand aghast as they read the painful record. There is intense excitement at this moment throughout this City and County, caused by the discovery of corruption and extortion in our Municipal Government. We have for months been kept in a continual fever by the astounding disclosures of crime that have been made. The Press, with all its wonderful versatility of talent, and with thorough plainness of speech and honesty of purpose, has performed a noble service in exposing and denouncing wealthy and influential criminals. The people have been thoroughly aroused. They cry for justice to innocent sufferers, and for punishment upon the heads of the offenders. It is just here where the pulpit must step in and perform its duty, and we must not be afraid of being charged with sensational preaching. There is a dangerous tendency with some to rest satisfied with denouncing the age and generation as bad, with crying for reform and vengeance, and to leave unread the lesson of passing events, that as a City, and as a nation, we are far from being righteous, and that in the midst of our boasted civilization, there is a savagery that is more dreadful than cannibalism, and a more pronounced wickedness than we read of in history. We want a great surging, cleansing, revival of religion in our midst. Let us all unite and pray for it. In continuation the speaker said: The most fearful exposures of corruption in high places have been made. Millions of dollars have passed into the hands of a few at the expense of the entire community. Poor men need no longer wonder at the exorbitant rents they have to pay, and at the extravagant rate of expenditure below which they find it impossible to live. We do not, indeed, trust that this corruption is confined to our City, for were all cities and towns implicated in such charges nothing could save the nation from bankruptcy and ruin. We trust that such corruption is confined to New-York. We trust that the financial storm is only local and not national, and that good to the people will come out of the present exposures; only let us learn from all this that every good Christian should exercise his right of franchise, and see to it that none but good men should be honored with civic titles and responsibility. This is the people's remedy. It is my duty to urge you, as Christians, to be good parents and children; but it is also my bounden duty to urge you to be alive to all the duties and privileges of citizens, and use them with a single eye to the honor of your Heavenly Master.

THE LIVONIA.

Arrival of Mr. Ashbury's Yacht—A Stormy Passage of Over Twenty-Nine Days.

The yacht Livonia, Capt. WOODS, arrived here last night in twenty-nine days, three hours and thirty minutes from Cowes. The Livonia left Cowes on Saturday, Sept. 2, at 5½ P. M., and her voyage across the Atlantic has been a rather stormy one. The yacht was hove to thirteen hours on the 14th and 15th, and for thirty-three hours on Saturday and Sunday, 16th and 17th, the latter storm being described as a hurricane in every particular. Her navigating and racing crew is thus composed: Captain, J. R. WOODS; Messrs. R. ROOD, (late of the Cambria,) and J. STRICKLAND, mates; F. SIMPSON, quartermaster; two cooks, two stewards, thirteen able-bodied seamen and Mr. H. HORNE, of Bell's Life, in London, as a passenger, having come across in the vessel. The Livonia is 128 tons British Custom-house measurement. She has but little sheer, a crescent-shaped bow, and semi-elliptical stern. For the passage she bent jury canvass, and the masts were cut three feet at the step, her topmasts sent down and with racing-boom cross-trees and other racing spars. She carried on deck also three boats. Around the vessel canvass weather-cloths were stretched as a protection against the sea, commencing forward. The bowsprit which was pitched short off in a gale, is 35 feet outside the span-shackle. The main-mast from deck to mast-head is 73 feet, the foremast 70 feet, the main-top-mast, above cap, 39 feet, the foretop-mast 6 feet, the fore-gaff 28 feet, the main-gaff 40 feet, the main-boom 68.3, the maintopsail 32 feet, the foretopsail yard 28 feet, the squaresail-boom 64. Her length on load-line is 106.6; her breadth on the water-line 23.3½; her depth aft, under the load-line, 12.6; amidships, 11.11 feet; forward, 8.4. The height of freeboard forward is 7.9; amidships, 4.4; aft, 4.7. The height of bulwarks is 1.11. The distance of greatest transverse section from centre of load-line is 5.9. The distance of centre of lateral resistance from centre of load-line, 6.1. The distance of centre of gravity of displacement, 2.11, and distance of centre of gravity below load-line, 2.6.

Mr. Cheney.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I have read two communications in relation to Mr. CHENEY, printed in your columns, which purported to be answers to your excellent article on "Clerical Honor," but they appear to leave your points unanswered, and labor to abuse Bishop WHITEHOUSE and the clergy that formed the Clerical Court that found Mr. CHENEY guilty. These writers show the vacillating weakness of Mr. CHENEY, for he resigned five times! while CÆSAR refused the crown but thrice. This may indicate weakness in both cases, and perhaps policy in one, but in the case before us, it shows weakness without dispute, for he allowed himself to be constrained, even to the ruin of his clerical reputation, and wounded his own conscience by continuing to officiate in opposition to the laws and decisions of his own diocese. Mr. CHENEY has reason to say "defend me from my friends," for these writers place him in an unenviable position. But they throw some light upon a course of conduct which appears so unlike the actions of a Christian gentleman that we are more at a loss for the impulses that shaped his course. Even now we cannot reconcile the reason given for his failure to fulfill his ordination vows with his present position, for if he resigned so repeatedly he must have done so through an urgent sense of duty. He even now retains his seat!

Many thanks, Mr. Editor, for your constant efforts to promote honor and integrity among us.

German Delay in Evacuating France Explained—Effect of Cholera in Turkey—Political Affairs in Spain.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—Gen. MANTEUFFEL has replied to a note of President THIERS, complaining at the delay in the movement for the evacuation of the Department of the Orse by the Germans. The General says the fact was caused by a misconception of orders. The evacuation will be resumed today. Prince BISMARCK refuses to accept article three of the Customs treaty. President THIERS has abandoned the article and telegraphed fresh proposals. The Journal of Brussels contradicts a rumor that Belgium had refused to make any modifications in the treaty of commerce with France.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—A Sunderland steamer with seven hands, and an Italian brig with nine persons on board, foundered off the mouth of the Humber in the last gale.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 1.—It is reported that there were seventy deaths from cholera in this city on Saturday. The season has been very hot, and the supply of water is failing. The spreading of the epidemic is feared; and the work on the arsenal in which a large number of laborers were employed, has been suspended in consequence.

MADRID, Oct. 1.—On the arrival of the King at Logrono he was received by Don ESPARTERO, who made a speech stating that he was ready to defend liberty, the will of the people and the dynasty of Savoy. The Correspondencia states that the Council of Ministers propose to exempt the external debt from taxation. It is not yet decided who is to be President of the Cortes.

Terrible Marine Disaster on the English Coast—Movements for the Restoration of Napoleon.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Dispatches from Great Grimsby give harrowing details of shipwrecks in full sight of the people on shore. The master of the American ship Bertha Thayer was swept from the deck during the gale and drowned off Sundy Isle. The Bertha Thayer put back to Penarth Roads.

PARIS, Oct. 1—Evening.—The supporters of the Empire are becoming bolder in their intrigues, and are agitating openly for restoration. CLEMENT DUVERNOIS, editor of the new Bonapartist paper, declares that THIERS is failing, and the country will naturally return to the Government which gave it twenty years of order. Assurances are given at Versailles that the difficulties in the way of the ratification of the Customs treaty with Germany have been overcome.

Fall of a Suspension Bridge at Wheeling—Several Persons Killed.

WHEELING, West Va., Oct. 1.—A frightful accident occurred in this city about 2½ this afternoon. One of the cables of the old suspension bridge leading from the foot of Sixth-street to the Crescent Iron-mill across Wheeling Creek, broke with nine persons on the bridge, six of whom fell a distance of about thirty feet. Two men, THOMAS CALIGHAN and JAMES KLINE, were killed outright; CHARLES COYLE has since died; and ALBERT ELLIOTT, JOSEPH HAYNE and GEO. AKERS are badly hurt. One or more of these will probably die. The other three, fortunately, clung to the other cable and got off. The bridge has been an unsafe structure for some time, and was closed by order of the City Council, but the employes of the iron-mill had removed the obstruction for their own convenience.

Accident on the Erie Railroad—Several Persons Severely Injured.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 30.—About 5 o'clock this morning a terrific accident occurred on the Erie Railway, near Addison Station, Steuben County. An oil train was taking the branch when the Cincinnati Express ran into the rear of it, shoving the caboose upon the locomotive and setting fire to the oil tanks. There were few or no persons injured by the collision, but while many persons had gathered about two of the oil tanks exploded, scattering the flames upon many of the passengers and operatives of the road, burning several severely. Two men, "Big JERRY" and CHARLES STACK, were the most severely injured. The wreck was cleared from the track about noon today, and the Cincinnati express was consolidated with the New-York express (No. 2.)

THE WEATHER.

Synopsis and Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—1 A. M.—The area of highest barometer which extended Saturday night from Pennsylvania over Tennessee and South Carolina, has moved south-east beyond our stations, and the pressure has fallen slightly in the north-west. Cloud and rain, with falling barometer, have prevailed from the interior of Arkansas south and westward. Light winds have prevailed on the Atlantic coast; brisk north-east in Southern Florida; south east and southerly winds on the lower lakes and in Mississippi Valley. Clear weather continues from Alabama to New-Jersey. Elsewhere the cloudiness has increased. The temperature has generally risen since Saturday night, especially in Ohio and the Mississippi Valley.

PROBABILITIES.

It is probable that the barometer will fall on Monday in the Atlantic States, with cloudy weather from the Middle and East Atlantic westward, and hazy and partially cloudy weather for the Southern States and Florida.

Affray in Albany-Street.

An affray occurred at about midnight last night at the corner of Albany and Washington streets, during which MICHAEL MCCARTHY, of No. 129 Washington-street, stabbed JOHN GRAY, of No. 24 Albany-street, in the neck, inflicting a dangerous wound. JOHN O'CONNOR, of No. 21 Washington-street, was also stabbed but only slightly injured by MCCARTHY, who was arrested and locked up in the Twenty-seventh Precinct Station-house. GRAY was removed to the Park Hospital.

MONDAY, Oct. 2—A. M.

The general Trade of the past week was large in the receipts and exports of Domestic Produce, and still active in the sales of Imported Merchandise and Domestic Commission Goods. The receipts of Cotton, of the new crop, at the South are lighter than for the corresponding week last season, affected, in some measure, by the fever at Charleston and New-Orleans. The amount of Foreign Goods marketed in New-York for September is about 25 ℘ cent. in excess of last year. The amount of Customs received (at the average of 40 ℘ cent. under the revised Tariff, in place of 45 ℘ cent.,) is 12½ ℘ cent. in excess. The whole excess of Customs paid into the Treasury at New-York since July, is now $4,746,000, or $46,235,000 for the three months, against $41,480,009 in same quarter of 1870. We have seldom known the Fall Trade with so few drawbacks to its general prosperity.

Although the Bank of England rate of Interest has gone up to 4 ℘ cent. since our last weekly review, and somewhat unsettled Money affairs on both sides the Atlantic, our own market, with the Bank movement, has improved. The rates for Money, 6@7 ℘ cent., are generally accepted by the Brokers as likely to continue through the present and ensuing months, and speculation on the Stock Exchange adjusts itself accordingly. The Railway and Miscellaneous Stocks show an average advance of about 1 ℘ cent. The Public Funds and the Gold sales were firm through the week, and both Gold and United States 5-20s were scarce, for cash delivery, at the close of the week. Bills on London, which ordinarily would have been strengthened by the rise of Interest abroad and the heavy current importations, are duller than usual, and the rates ½@1 ℘ cent. below the previous week.

The weekly averages of the Associated Banks, Local and National, reporting through the Clearing-house for the week ending Saturday last, Sept. 30, compare as follows with the previous week, and also with the corresponding week last year. To which we add the Gold and Currency balances in the New-York Office of the United States Treasury at these dates respectively:

The Bank return published this morning exhibits the relative strength of the movement in respect to the lawful money held as against the circulation and deposits, to which we add the position of the movement the week before, and also of the movement of the corresponding week last year:

The City Banks are rapidly getting into line with their lawful Money basis. On the weekly return they add $2,641,400 to the surplus, in the aggregate, over the required 25 ℘ cent., as compared with last week. The gain in Gold Notes is $3,558,200; the loss in Greenbacks, $3,156,000; the decrease in Deposits, $8,989,400, and the increase in Circulation $32,600. The contraction in Loans is $7,808,600. The alternation in Gold and Greenbacks is the result of the operations of the Treasury at the close of the previous week. For the week just closed the Treasury Office bought $5,000,000 United States 5-20s, and sold $2,000,000 Gold. It received $3,408,000 in Gold for Customs.

The sales of Gold for the day were the same as on Friday, 114⅛@114⅜, but the Cash Gold was scarcer, and a sixteenth of one ℘ cent. was paid for its use until Monday.

Money closed at 7 ℘ cent. on call loan and on Merchant paper. Early in the day the Brokers borrowed on call loan at 6 ℘ cent., with exceptions at 5 ℘ cent. The demand was more active at the close, when 7 ℘ cent. was paid.

The Import entries at New-York, embracing foreign Dry Goods and General Merchandise, for the past week, were $6,884,432 as against $7,058,078 for the corresponding week last year. The Exports of Domestic Produce, other than Gold and Silver, were $5,232,676, against $3,364,536 same week in 1870. The Exports of Gold and Silver, $483,601, against $465,258 same week in 1870. The Customs in Gold paid into the New-York Office of the United States Treasury for the week were $3,408,602. The receipts of Cotton, coastwise and by rail, 13,885 bales.

The Gold values of the Import entries of Foreign Merchandise at New-York, exclusive of Foreign Specie, for the calendar year 1871, are as follows, the figures being official to Aug. 1, and since semi-official from the Custom-house:

The Stock Exchange was active on the Railways and Miscellaneous Stocks, and the temper of the market decidedly bullish, as foreshadowed on Friday Afternoon. A large business was done in Erie and most of the Western Roads, with a continued firm feeling in New-York Central, New-Jersey Central and Delaware and Lackawanna. The Public Funds were firm on a very moderate offering, and so were the Pacific Mortgages, Centrals closing 102¼ ℘ cent. After the late Boards the following quotations were made as compared with Friday night. There was rather less spirit in the speculative Stocks than in the forenoon. The turn in the supply of Cash Gold added to the weakness of Exchange, and 60 days' London was not much over 108 ℘ cent. on actual Cash transactions, and short sight 109 ℘ cent.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

Important to Holders OF 5-20 BONDS.

No. 20 WALL-ST., Oct. 2.

The sales of Northern Pacific 7-30 Gold Bonds, during August and September, have been steadily increasing, being largely augmented by conversion of United States 5-20s into these bonds.

As the Secretary of the Treasury will shortly commence the redemption of the 5-20s of 1862, holders of 5-20s should embrace the present most favorable opportunity to replace the same with a security of UNDOUBTED AND DAILY-INCREASING VALUE, and at the same time enlarge their ANNUAL INCOME 38 PER CENT.

This investment is found in the

First Mortgage Bonds OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.,

Which we offer at par and accrued interest in currency, and which are secured by a FIRST MORTGAGE UPON THE ENTIRE ROAD AND ITS EQUIPMENT, and also upon 50,000,000 acres of the finest Agricultural and Mineral lands in the world.

JAY COOKE & CO.,
New-York, Philadelphia & Washington.

BANKING-HOUSE OF HENRY CLEWS & CO.,
No. 32 Wall-st., New-York.

☞LETTERS OF CREDIT FOR TRAVELERS, also Commercial Credits, issued, available throughout the world.

Bills of Exchange on the Imperial Bank of London, National Bank of Scotland, Provincial Bank of Ireland, and all their branches.

Drafts and Telegraphic Transfers on Europe, San Francisco, the West Indies, and all parts of the United States.

Deposit accounts received in either currency or coin, subject to check at sight, which pass through the Clearing-house as if drawn upon any City bank; four per cent. interest allowed on all daily balances; Certificates of Deposit issued; Notes, Drafts and Coupons collected; advances made on approved collaterals and against merchandise consigned to our care.

Orders executed for Investment Securities and Railroad Iron. CLEWS, HABICHT & CO.,
No. 11 Old Broad-st., London.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

☞FIRST MORTGAGE SINKING FUND LAND-GRANT BONDS OF THE ST. JOSEPH AND DENVER CITY RAILROAD COMPANY,

IN DENOMINATIONS OF $1,000, $500, AND $100, can now be had from the undersigned or through the principal banks and bankers of the United States. The attention of investors is invited to the merits of these bonds, secured by a first and only mortgage on the road, equipments, franchises, and property of a trunk line of railroad which will shorten the distance between New-York and San Francisco some 230 miles, and in addition the mortgage to secure the bonds covers a land-grant of 1,500,000 acres of the most fertile land in the West, which is prohibited from being sold at less than four ($4) dollars per acre by the terms of the mortgage deed, and according to the present market price of the Illinois Central Company's lands is worth $18,750,000. This loan was originally for $5,500,000, but has been largely reduced by subscriptions of actual investors. The remaining balance of the loan is offered at 97½ and accrued interest, but the right is reserved to advance the price at any time, without notice.

The bonds have thirty years to run; bear 8 per cent. interest, payable in New-York, London or Frankfort-on-the-Main, at the option of the holder, without notice, free of taxes. BOTH PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST ARE PAYABLE IN GOLD. They are Coupon Bonds, but can be registered with the coupons ON, or can be registered with the coupons OFF, and interest paid to registered owner. Interest payable Aug. 15 and Feb. 15. A liberal sinking fund, formed from the entire land sales, in payment for which the bonds will be received at par and accrued interest, provides for the early extinguishment of this loan.

Trustees—Farmers' Loan and Trust Company.

These bonds offer favorable inducements to parties desiring to fund their Five-Twenties or other high-priced securities.

In converting Five-Twenties the investors realize 17 per cent. profit on the principal; 2 per cent. per annum excess of interest; and at the same time get a perfect security.

Maps, circulars, documents, and full information furnished on application.

Though acting as agents for the sale of this loan, our firm buy and sell in their regular business the bonds of the St. Joseph and Denver City Railroad Company, those of the Eastern Division being now quoted at 102 and accrued interest. These were originally placed by us at 97½.

TANNER & CO.,
Bankers, No. 11 Wall-st.

☞CHESAPEAKE AND OHIOS—FIVE-TWENTIES—CENTRAL PACIFICS.

BANKING OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
No. 5 NASSAU-ST., NEW-YORK, Oct. 2, 1871.

Very many holders of Government Bonds are debating in their own minds whether to sell out while they can realize a handsome premium on their bonds, or to exchange them for other first-class securities, bearing the same rate of interest, which may be had at much less price. We have been exchanging large amounts of late for CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS, and also for the CENTRAL PACIFIC SIXES.

Of the Fifteen Million Chesapeake and Ohio Six per Cent. Loan, but about $4,500,000 remain unsold, and this remainder will be taken up rapidly.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Sixes have absolutely thirty years to run, are especially desirable for steady investments, and can now be bought

17 per cent. less than Ten-forties,
20 per cent. less than Five-twenties,
25 per cent. less than Sixes of 1881,

and are equally sure to be paid, principal and interest, in gold coin. Price at present 93 and accrued interest; that is, with coupon attached, payable Nov. 1.

$1,000 Chesapeake and Ohio Bond costs to-day...... $955 32
500 Chesapeake and Ohio Bond costs to-day...... 477 63
100 Chesapeake and Ohio Bond costs to-day...... 95 53

Only a small amount of the latter denominations remains, and no more can be made. Bonds are in coupon or registered form, same as Five-twenties.

When the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad is completed, in 1872, and the Bonds are dealt in at the Stock Exchanges of the world, we have no doubt they will be equally popular with the Central Pacifics, which now command a premium and are a favorite security here and in Europe, both roads being prominent lines, and under substantially the same fiscal management. Both principal and interest of the CENTRAL PACIFIC and CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO BONDS, are specifically payable in gold coin in New-York; the interest on the former being paid January and July, and of the latter, May and November, corresponding with the two classes of Five-Twenties.

We recommend either of them to our friends and customers with the same confidence as we did the Five-Twenty Bonds, when we were selling millions of them for the United States Government.

We buy and sell FIVE-TWENTIES, TEN-FORTIES, EIGHTY-ONES, and CENTRAL or WESTERN PACIFICS, or receive them in payment for CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO BONDS at their current market price.

FISK & HATCH.

P. S.—Accounts of banks, bankers and others received, on which we allow four per cent. interest.

Certificates of deposit issued and collections made in all parts of the Union.

☞WINSLOW, LANIER & CO.,
NO. 27 PINE-STREET,

Offer for sale, at 90 cents and accrued interest in currency, and recommend as an investment of the most undoubted character, the 7 Per Cent. Bonds of the GRAND RAPIDS AND INDIANA RAILROAD COMPANY. They have 30 years to run, principal and interest payable in gold, coupon or registered, interest October and April. They are secured by a first mortgage on 220 miles of finished road and 100 miles more in progress, and on a Land Grant of one million one hundred and sixty thousand acres of lumber land in Northern Michigan. The road extends from Fort Wayne, where it connects with the extensive system of roads centering at that point, northerly, and having been finished through the rich agricultural region of Southern and Central Michigan, has now penetrated the Land Grant. The lands have been recently put upon the market, and are being rapidly sold. By the terms of the mortgage the proceeds of the land must be invested by the Trustees in the purchase of the Bonds, which insures their constant repurchase from the holders. This Land Grant is estimated to be worth $12,000,000, and is probably more available for immediate sale than any other Land Grant ever made to any company. The whole issue is Eight Million Dollars, of which more than six millions have been disposed of. This road is run as a connection of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, and the Pennsylvania Railroad, and has the powerful support of those companies and their numerous affiliated lines. These Bonds have been sold in large lines to the most prudent investors.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

☞EIGHT PER CENT. GOLD BONDS.—First mortgage on the Montgomery and Eufaula Railroad, and indorsed by the State of Alabama. The road has but two or three miles to finish. Limited to $16,000 per mile of finished road. A good road, a safe bond and a good guarantee. We offer them at 95 and interest.

GEORGE OPDYKE & CO.,
No. 25 Nassau-st.

☞THE WEST WISCONSIN RAILWAY is now very nearly finished, and trains will be running through from Tomah to St. Paul by Nov. 1. The earnings of the Road from local traffic on the completed portion constitute already a profitable business; and arrangements and connections are about perfected which will make it the Great Air-Line Route from Chicago to the North-west, effecting a saving of more than 100 miles over the present route. The Bonds are a First Mortgage on the road itself and on a valuable Land Grant of 1,000,000 acres. They bear interest in gold at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, and are sold now at 90 and accrued interest in currency by WHITE, MORRIS & CO., No. 18 Wall-st., and GWYNNE, JOHNSON & DAY, No. 16 Wall-st., where pamphlets and further information may be obtained.

GRAIN—There has been a brisk inquiry for desirable samples of Wheat, particularly of No. 2 Spring, Red and Amber (Winter) and White Western, at a further improvement of 2c.@3c. a bushel, closing strong. The poorer grades of stock have been in less favor and somewhat irregular. The bulk of the business was for shipment, with unusually free sales reported for forward delivery. There was, also, some speculative call. Sales have been reported since our last of 371,000 bushels, all told, largely to arrive, including White Western, at $1 70@$1 84, chiefly at $1 76@$1 80; Red and Amber Western at $1 62@$1 73, chiefly at $1 68 for very good Red; $1 70@$1 72 for New Amber do., afloat and to arrive; $1 75 for fancy Amber do., in lots; No. 1 Spring at $1 61; No. 2 Spring, $1 57@$1 60 for straight to prime samples; White Genesee, $1 75@$1 82; Red and Amber do. at $1 65@$1 72, ℘ bushel.... A lively movement has been reported in mixed Western Corn, for shipment, home trade purposes, and on speculative account, with a further rise of 1c.@2c. ℘ bushel. Other kinds quiet, but held with confidence; sales have been reported since our last of 339,000 bushels at 76½c.@77½c. for New Mixed Western, afloat; 76c.@77c., mainly at 76c.@76½c. for do., in store; 73c.@74½c. for steamer grades; 77c.@78c. for Yellow Western; 77c. for White Western; 85c. for New Crop White Maryland, (the first—an unusually early—receipt of the season,) ℘ bushel.... Of Rye, 16,500 bushels Western were sold at 92½c.@93c., showing a firmer market; and of Barley, equal to two or three boat-loads of Western were reported sold on private terms, on a weak market.... Barley-malt in moderate demand at about former prices. City, $1 35@$1 40; State, $1 05@$1 10 ℘ bushel.... Oats have been actively sought for, for prompt and forward delivery, at decidedly stronger prices. Sales have been reported since our last of 171,000 bushels at 51c.@52c. for New Mixed Western, afloat here, and 53c. for do., to arrive; 49c.@50½c. for New Black; 52½c.@54½c. for ordinary to choice New White Western and White Ohio.

HIDES—The week's receipts have been 11,921 Hides; sales, 68,500 Hides and 200 bales do., the latter including, according to Messrs. HULL & Co., 6,000 Dry Buenos Ayres, 22@24 lbs., 25½c.@26c.; 1,130 Dry Buenos Ayres and Entre Rios Kips, 10@12 lbs., 25½c.@26c., gold, selected; 1,320 Dry Buenos Ayres and Entre Rios. The stock on hand is 103,700 Hides and 1,150 bales, (same time last year, 70,600 Hides and 435 bales,) as follows: 39,100 Dry Buenos Ayres, 25,300 Dry Montevideo, 6,300 Dry Rio Grande, 5,500 Dry Minas, 5,000 Dry Central American, 6,000 Dry Tampico, 1,500 Dry Tobasco, 4,000 Dry and Salted Bogota and Savanilla, 4,000 Dry and Salted Mexican, 7,000 Dry and Salted Texas and Southern, 1,100 bales Calcutta Cow and Buffalo, 50 bales Penang and Manila Buffalo.

MOLASSES—Dull at about old figures. A New-Orleans dispatch reports the receipt of 10 half bbls. new crop, of fancy quality, which were placed at $1 12½ ℘ gallon.

NAVAL STORES—Generally depressed. Strained Resin down to $3 50@$3 55; sales, 1,500 bbls. all kinds. Of Wilmington Tar, 75 bbls. were sold at $3. Spirits Turpentine opened at 68c. and closed heavy at 65c.; sales, 350 bbls.

PETROLEUM—Weak throughout, with freer offerings and a slow call. Sales, here, 1,100 bbls. Crude, in bulk, at 14⅛c., regular, and 14½c. for 45 gravity; 3,500 bbls. Refined (chiefly settlements) at 23½c.@26½c., and at Philadelphia, 2,000 bbls. Refined, early delivery, at 22½c., with return. Crude Oil and Naphtha about as before.

PROVISIONS—Mess Pork has been actively dealt in, partly in settlement of maturing contracts, at about previous quotations, buyers having any existing advantage. Prime Mess Pork continued in good demand on a firmer market. Sales have been reported since our last of 5,300 bbls., in lots, at $13 50@$13 62, chiefly $13 50 for Western Mess; $14@$15 for New City Mess; $10@$10 25 for New Prime to Extra Prime; $11@$11 25 for Prime Mess, ℘ bbl. For forward delivery there has been a fair inquiry noted for Western Mess, on the basis of $13 50, seller October; sales, 2,500 bbls. Dressed Hogs and Cut-meats firm and in demand; latter scarce. Bacon wanted and strong in price; sales, 50 boxes Long Clear at 9c.; 500 boxes do., March delivery, on private terms.... Lard has been quoted somewhat firmer with good demand. Sales have been reported of 1,300 tcs. and bbls., for early delivery, at 9⅜c.@10¼c. for No. 1 to choice Steam and Kettle-rendered, chiefly at 10c. for Western Steam; 10c.@10⅛c. for Kettle-rendered, and 9⅞c. for City. For forward delivery sales were reported of 2,500 tcs. prime Western Steam, including seller October at 10c., November at 10c., and January at 9⅞c., ℘ lb. Beef, Butter and Cheese essentially unchanged; quiet.

SKINS—Deer scarce and held above the views of buyers, hence quiet; 2,500 Texas and Southern, and 1,500 lbs. Sisal and Vera Cruz sold on private terms. Receipts, 17 bales. Goat firm and in good demand; sales, 500 bales Curacoa, 50 bales Mexican, 20 bales Payta, and 10 bales Cape. Receipts, 35 bales Curacoa, 16 bales Vera Cruz, 21 bales Mexican via New-Orleans, and 15 East India.

NO NAME.

BY ETHEL LYNN.

What shall we call our baby, wife?
The sweet, wee mortal thing,
With battling hand and restless foot,
And ear like midge's wing.
We'll give her chrism sweet and small,
A word that's soft and low,
A sound to hear from lips of love,
As days of earth life go.
Pansy, or Rose, or Daisy, dear?
Helen, or Grace, or Fay?
We've called her "Baby" long enough,
'Tis near her christ'ning day.
You don't care, do you, Baby, dear?
You'll babble, cry and crow.
If we should call you Polly Ann,
If we but speak it low.
But by and by, my woman-child,
For tones you love to hear,
Your name shall be a fairy boat,
To bear sweet love-notes near.
And so it shall be soft and sweet,
Nor grate as sounds go by;
So sweet, I can't decide today—
I'll find one by and by.

* * * * *

Ice-cold, and like a waxen thing,
The quiet sleeper lies,
With hands upfolded on its breast,
And soul gone home to Paradise.
Its small life lived, its sheaf of tears
Bound in a bundle small;
It folded thus its waxen hands
At some Almighty call.
Our list'ning ear no accents caught,
No name like earth-born word;
But still methinks an angel called
"Baby," and Baby heard.

LADY THORNHURST'S DAUGHTER.

CHAPTER I.

THE FATHER'S RETURN.

The farm known as Redruth Moor is one of the most fertile in Lincolnshire, perhaps in all England.

The house is a picturesque old stone dwelling, which has stood a couple of centuries.

At a little distance in the rear of the house are out-buildings, all indicative of the extreme thrift and prosperity of the owner of Redruth Moor.

That owner, twenty years ago, as today, was Miss Jacobea Redruth. She was, and is, possessed of first-class business abilities, active in her habits, keen, sharp-witted, and her own farm-manager.

She was not a woman of social habits, nor particularly given to hospitality. There was a vein of parsimony in her nature that made social gatherings at her expense a positive pain, but she had come of a fine old county family, and her ancient name and excellent lineage procured her friendly recognition and formal visits from the various county magnates. These visits were as formally returned at stated periods, and but for their small break in the even course of her existence, Miss Redruth would have led the life of a recluse.

Late one afternoon in May, nearly twenty years ago, Miss Redruth was seated in her drawing-room, after her usual afternoon custom. Her chair was drawn up before an open bow window, and she was looking out into the depths of an apple orchard, which was covered with bloom, with a strangely intent gaze. One might have supposed her engaged in abstruse calculations as to the probable yield of the fruit trees, but a second glance at her deeply-contracted brows and troubled face would have testified that her thoughts had a deeper and more unquiet source.

She was a gaunt, grim woman of middle age and of masculine appearance. She had a hard face and a hard nature. She had no tender womanly ways, no gentle womanly sympathies, no sentimentality, as she loved to say, no fondness for womanly employments.

Redruth Moor was not an entailed estate, and Miss Redruth has inherited it from her father. The present representative of the proud old family was Col. Redruth, her brother, an army officer, who had spent most of his life in India, and whose arrival she was now momentarily expecting at her home, after an absence from his native land for many years. There was more of dread than of joyous anticipation in the manner of Miss Redruth, as the moment of the Colonel's appearance drew near.

"What can I say to him?" she muttered uneasily. "What will he say to me when he knows all? I wish the meeting were over. Ah, there he comes."

The carriage she had sent to Sleaford to meet her brother was in fact at that moment seen returning at a swift pace along the dusty road. It turned in at the wide farm gates, and came up the carriage-sweep toward the porch. Miss Redruth arose after a mechanical fashion from her chair, and went slowly out into the wide hall, advancing to the threshold to meet her relative.

The open carriage came nearer. Upon the back seat sat a gentleman whose face flushed at sight of her, and who took off his hat as a sudden rush of emotion swept over his soul. The carriage drew up at the porch, and the gentleman sprang lightly out and ran up the steps.

"Jacob! My dear sister!" he cried, in deep, agitated tones, embracing her. "You have not changed, at least, in the nine years since we parted!"

Miss Redruth submitted to the embrace, and presented her right cheek to her brother's caress, but she did not offer to kiss him. She was superior to such small weaknesses.

"I am glad to see you back in England, George," she exclaimed quietly. "You have changed, I think; but then your life has not been so quiet as mine."

She withdrew herself from his arm, and led him into the low, quaint, pleasant drawing-room.

The Colonel halted just within the threshold, and looked about the room with an eager, expectant gaze.

He was a handsome, distinguished-looking man, of some fifty years, with a complexion deeply bronzed by Indian suns, with keen dark eyes, a grand head, and black hair already streaked with gray. He wore iron-gray military whiskers, and his massive eyebrows were of iron-gray also, giving to his noble countenance a look of sternness and command that well became him.

"Where is Ignatia?" he asked, his face suddenly clouding with disappointment. "Why is not my child here to welcome her father? She—she is not ill?"

"No, George," answered Miss Redruth, with embarrassment. "She does not know that you are expected today. I thought it best not to tell her, and—and I sent her out in her little pony chaise for a drive."

"Intending to let her find me here on her return?" said the Colonel, his brow clearing. "You meant to surprise her? Will she be back soon?"

"Sit down, George," said Miss Redruth, with perceptible uneasiness. "I have something to tell you before Ignatia comes. Did—did you hear anything over at Sleaford? Did you meet any one you used to know?"

"I did not," said the Colonel wonderingly, seating himself at a window commanding a view of the road. "Was there anything for me to hear?" he added, with a sudden change of countenance. "The child has not grown deformed, nor had the small-pox, nor—"

"How old do you think the 'child' is?" demanded Miss Redruth grimly. "You left her a little girl, and she seems but a little girl to you still. But she is twenty years old, a woman grown—"

"Ah, yes," sighed the Colonel. "She has left behind her her childhood, but she will be something dearer and nearer to me than simply a child. She will be my companion—my friend. She will console me in part for the loss of her mother. Does she fulfill her childish promise of beauty and grace?"

"She does," said Miss Redruth, setting her lips firmly together.

"I know that she is good," said the Indian soldier, with tender emphasis. "I remember well her loving, sensitive nature, her winning ways, her bright, impetuous spirit. She had a noble intellect—you do not mean, Jacob, that she is not so clear-headed as she was?" he added, in sudden alarm.

"No, she knows enough," was the reluctant reply.

"Ah!" said the Colonel, trying to smile. "She has a lover then? That is to be expected at her age."

"You should have come home sooner, George," said Miss Redruth. "People who have children should stay with them and take care of them."

"I could not well come home earlier, Jacob," said the Colonel. "My daughter is an heiress, and as such must take her place in society. If she has an unworthy lover, I will undertake to wean her heart from him. Surely she cannot resist her father's loving counsels."

"It is too late for counsels," said Miss Redruth, with a sort of grim desperation. "Ignatia Redruth is beyond the reach of advice. You need not blame me, George. Ignatia herself will clear my skirts of blame. It is not my fault if she has wrecked your hopes, and made herself a bed of living coals to lie on."

The Colonel's face grew suddenly pale. The grizzled mustache on his upper lip trembled convulsively.

"What has she done?" he asked, in a hoarse whisper.

"Married a dissolute fellow—"

"Married! Good Heavens!"

"It is so, George," said Miss Redruth. "She has been married nearly four years."

"Four years! And you never told me? She never wrote that she was married. Four years!"

"Yes. Let me tell you how it happened. About four years ago a regiment was stationed within twenty miles of us, and its officers were to be met at all the best houses in this part of the county. Ignatia was but a school-girl, under a governess, to whom I left the direction of her pursuits and movements. Ignatia had a number of girl friends, whom she was often allowed to visit. At the house of one of these friends she met Captain Digby Holm. He was handsome, after the style girls like, I suppose, and became the rage, as the phrase is. He comes of a good family, but is dissolute. His own father has disowned him. He is thoroughly bad, but has a specious appearance. He fell in love with Ignatia, and she with him, and one day the precious pair came into this very room and asked my consent to their marriage."

"Well?" said the Colonel, his face ghastly white, his voice trembling.

"Of course I refused my consent," said Miss Redruth. "I sent Ignatia to her school-room, and after lecturing Captain Holm, dismissed him from the house. I thought that was the end of the matter, but it seemed it was not. The upshot of the matter was that Captain Holm and my niece were married quietly without my knowledge, by special license, at Sleaford, to which place Ignatia and her governess had gone in the pony chaise, on pretense of wishing to match Berlin wool, but really to meet the fellow."

"But how could he procure a license to marry a child of sixteen, without the consent of her relatives?"

"Captain Holm is not punctilious about speaking truth," said Miss Redruth bitterly. "He may have declared Ignatia to be of age. At any rate, he returned in the chaise with the girl and her governess, and announced himself to me as Ignatia's husband. I did not know what to do. I dared not write to you."

"And this precious son-in-law of mine—is he in the house?" demanded the Colonel, sternly, with lowering brows.

"No; he lived here with Ignatia for a year or more, for I would not let my niece go from under my roof. He sold out his commission, and the child has not seen him in three years. I believe he is roving about the Continent. When he knew her, my niece was but a sallow, unformed child. She is now very beautiful, but that, of course, he does not know. Neither does he know that she is now an heiress."

The Colonel arose and paced the floor with quick and agitated steps.

"Don't reproach me, George," said Miss Redruth. "Have I not suffered? How could I have done differently?"

"Tied to such a scoundrel, who had not even the virtue of faithfulness—"

"She need not be tied to him, George," interposed Miss Redruth, eagerly. "I consulted Mr. Ainsley, my lawyer, you know. He says that it will be easy to procure a divorce for Ignatia."

"Why should not the marriage be set aside as illegal?" demanded the Colonel.

Miss Redruth colored.

"Because—because—" she stammered. "You see, George, the Holms are rich. Only two lives stand between Capt. Holm and a great estate—"

"And you want me—a Redruth, and a rich man—to claim alimony for my daughter!" cried the Colonel, in a stern, ringing voice. "For shame, Jacobea. You would have me trade on her wrongs! You would have her accept money from this scoundrel!"

"No, no. Hear me," exclaimed Miss Redruth. "I would not have the marriage declared illegal, simply because there is another person to be considered who has not yet been mentioned."

"And who may this person be?"

"Ignatia's child!"

"Her child! Ignatia's child! Great Heaven! Am I dreaming?"

"No, I wish you were," said Miss Redruth. "There is a child of three years—a girl. For her sake, as you must see yourself, the legality of the marriage must not be questioned."

The Colonel did not answer. He strode back and forth with bowed head and gathered brows, and Miss Redruth dared not question him, nor even attempt to soothe him.

"I don't think Ignatia so entirely to blame," she ventured to say, after a little.

The Colonel gave no sign that he heard the observation.

"This is a turning-point in her life," said Miss Redruth, after another uneasy silence. "I hope you don't intend to cast her off, George."

Still no answer from the Colonel.

Miss Redruth turned from the contemplation of his face to the open window, her firm, hard mouth growing firmer and harder, as she compressed it closely. Neither spoke again until a little basket chaise, drawn by a stout, shaggy pony, came leisurely along the highway and turned into the open farm gates, and Miss Redruth then exclaimed:

"Ignatia is come. How will you receive her?"

The Colonel answered in a hoarse voice, without looking up:

"Send her to me. Stay—you need not tell her I am here. Let her come in here. And let us meet alone, Jacob."

Miss Redruth arose and withdrew, the look of apprehension deepening in her face.

CHAPTER II.

IGNATIA.

The little basket chaise drew up before the porch of the stone house, and the young lady who held the reins tossed them to a stable-lad who was at hand, and alighted, helping out a little child. The two ran lightly up the steps.

The hall was deserted when the pair entered it.

"Where's Aunty Jacob?" cried the young mother, in a gay, sweet voice. "Her chair is empty. Shall we find her?"

She moved lightly across the floor, and then her eyes suddenly resting upon the grand figure and stern face of the returned soldier, she came to an abrupt halt. A cry of terror and horror, strangely mingled, came from her white lips. Her face blanched; her limbs trembled; she panted for breath.

The father and daughter stood face to face after a separation of nine long years!

The Colonel scarcely recognized the sallow, romping little creature he had left in this magnificent woman. Her tall and slender figure was instinct with stately grace. Her every movement indicated refinement and thorough breeding.

The Colonel did not move toward her, nor did the sternness of his countenance relax.

His daughter took a step toward him, a cruel agitation convulsing her frame. Her arms dropped, and her hands were clasped together. It seemed as if she would have knelt before him.

"Father! O father!" she cried, in an anguished appeal. "Father, speak to me!"

That pleading cry went to the Colonel's soul. He forgot his daughter's error, remembering that she was his child—his only child. His heart melted within him. He silently opened his arms, and with a gasping cry, Ignatia sprang forward and was folded to his breast.

For a little while there was silence between them, broken only by the girl's sobs, and the soft caresses the Colonel showered upon her head and face. Then he drew her to a sofa, still enfolding her in his arms.

"Father," whispered Ignatia brokenly, "do you know? Has Aunt Jacob told you—"

"I know all, my daughter," answered the Colonel gently.

"And you forgive me? You will not cease to love me?"

The father answered only by a soft caress. Her terror and anguish aroused his tenderness and pity, and he had never in all her life loved her with such a yearning love as he felt for her at this moment, when she lay trembling against his breast.

"Aunt Jacob has told me of your marriage, Ignatia," he said. "I will not upbraid you for keeping the matter a secret from me all these years. How long is it since you saw Capt. Holm?"

"It is nearly three years, father," was the low reply. "I have not seen him since the child was three months old."

"Do you love him still?" asked the Colonel.

"Oh, no, no!" she murmured. "I would rather die than live with him as his wife!"

"And this child is yours and his?"

"Yes, father; but she is not like him in character."

The Colonel looked at the little creature. She was scarcely three years old, and it was easy to see that she had inherited no taint of her profligate father's nature.

"What is your name, little one?" asked the Colonel.

"Georgia Redruth," was the prompt answer.

The Colonel held out one hand with a smile to the child. When he had throned his tiny namesake upon his knee, his daughter knew that she was forgiven.

She presently raised her head from its resting-place, and told him her story. It differed little from the narrative Miss Redruth had already given her brother. It seemed, indeed, to the father, as he heard her, that the girl had been "more sinned against than sinning."

"Do you suppose," he asked, "that Captain Holm knows now that you are an heiress?"

"I am sure he does not," answered the deserted young wife. "If he had known it, he would have returned to me. He never dreamed that you were the next heir to poor Uncle Ralph."

"You parted in a quarrel?"

"Yes, father; but it was not a sudden outbreak. He came home one day from the town where his regiment was stationed in a terrible humor. We found afterward that every officer in his regiment had cut him, 'for conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.' He was obliged to sell out his commission as soon as possible after that.

"He was full of rage, which he vented upon me. He cursed himself for falling in love with me, when he might have won an heiress.

"At last he took his effects and mounted his horse, and rode toward Sleaford at a furious pace. I have never seen him since. I do not know whether he is living or dead."

"Your young life shall not be blighted by this scoundrel!" cried the Colonel. "The law shall free you from any claims he may choose to make upon you when he discovers that his deserted wife is really an heiress. My first movement shall be to procure you a release from the villain.

"And until you have obtained a divorce from him, we will not go to Redruth."

"Will they let me keep my child?" asked Ignatia.

"Of course, dear."

"Dear father!" she said softly. "My whole life shall try to show my love and gratitude to you."

Before the Colonel could reply, Miss Redruth stalked into the room, unmistakably anxious.

A single glance set her mind at rest. The Colonel held his grand-child on his knee, and Ignatia was looking up at him with grateful eyes.

"All is forgiven and forgotten," said the Colonel cheerfully. "Ignatia and the child will start for London with me by the morning train.

"I will not take her to Redruth while that scoundrel has the shadow of a claim upon her."

The evening was passed pleasantly and without restraint. No further allusion was made to Captain Holm, and Colonel Redruth told stories of his Indian life, charming his hearers into forgetfulness of Ignatia's profligate husband.

At about two o'clock the next day, Colonel Redruth, Ignatia and the little Georgia took their leave of Miss Redruth, and drove away from the Moor.

They were obliged to wait nearly an hour for the mail down train.

The gray dusk was falling when they steamed into the station at Huntingdon. A porter entered and lighted the ceiling lamp, and went out again.

Suddenly two young men came sauntering along the platform.

One approached the door of the coach occupied by Col. Redruth's family, and looked in. A guard came forward and addressed the young men, and ushered them into the very carriage occupied by the returned soldier.

Ignatia hurriedly drew her vail over her face, and sank back upon her seat trembling and panic-stricken. Col. Redruth noticed that she seemed to cower in the shadows of her corner.

The next instant the train was once more on its swift way to the southward.

Col. Redruth looked at the intruders closely. One of them was an ordinary looking young man in military uniform, with a loud laugh and pompous manners. The Colonel did not bestow upon him a second glance.

His companion was slender, tall and graceful, and with a dashing, spirited air. His manner was a strange compound of grace, insolence and gentlemanliness. He was of florid complexion, his forehead high, his eyes of a bluish gray, and possessed of a strange power of attraction and fascination. His eyes reminded the Colonel, oddly enough, of the eyes of an Indian serpent.

"That man looks like an angel!" thought the Colonel. "And I believe he is at heart a devil."

He withdrew his gaze slowly. At the same instant Ignatia breathed into his ear:

"That is he—my husband!"

For the continuation of this story—the history of the divorce suit, its strange developments and result, see the New-York Ledger dated Oct. 14, which is now ready and for sale at all the news depots. If you are not convenient to a news office, send three dollars to Robert Bonner, publisher, New-York City, and the Ledger will be sent to you by mail for one year.

FINANCIAL.

First Mortgage, Convertible,

7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds

OF THE

PEORIA & ROCK ISLAND RAILWAY

OF ILLINOIS.

First Mortgage Bonds - - -	$1,500,000
Capital Stock - - - - - - - -	2,000,000

This is a COMPLETED Road 91 miles in length, connecting the important Cities of Peoria on the Illinois River, and Rock Island, Moline and Davenport, on the Mississippi. Davenport, on the opposite bank of the river, is connected by a railway bridge. The last rail of this road was laid July 7, 1871, and the line is now open and being operated with a success exceeding all anticipation. In order to place upon the road the large equipment necessary for the business offered, and to construct depots, car and engine-houses, machine-shops, &c., equal to any of the best old roads in the country, as is now required of this, the Company offer, through the undersigned, $1,500,000 convertible first mortgage gold bonds, which cover the entire property of the Company, and is less than $17,000 per mile. PRESENT PRICE, 90, AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY. Principal and interest payable in coin at New-York or London, free of tax. Coupons payable February and Aug. 1.

This road, opened for the immense local as well as through traffic, now offered, will prove one of the most profitable in the West, traversing as it does a section of country unsurpassed in fertility of soil and agricultural resources, already thickly populated and in a high state of cultivation. This is self-evident from the fact that every section of the road passes through cultivated fields and many flourishing towns and villages, with a large city and navigable river at each end. Railroads in the West have been heretofore constructed through unsettled and uncultivated regions of the country, consequently, have had but little local traffic to depend upon for several years after construction. But the Peoria and Rock Island Railway is a first class COMPLETED road, with NO PARALLEL or COMPETING LINE, and RUNS THROUGH ONE OF THE RICHEST AGRICULTURAL, MANUFACTURING AND MOST POPULOUS DISTRICTS IN THE WEST. Thus it is certain that the local business is already more than enough to sustain the road, while the through traffic is unlimited, as its connections are numerous, which can be seen by a glance at the map.

This road is a grand central link, to which many of the principal lines centralize and diverge to all parts of the continent.

We invite the attention of investors to this loan. Being familiar with the wealth and resources of the country along the line of this railway and A MEMBER OF OUR FIRM HAVING MADE A CAREFUL EXAMINATION OF THE ROAD AND ITS PROPERTY, WE CAN WITH THE UTMOST CONFIDENCE RECOMMEND THE BONDS AS A PRIME SECURITY, reliable and safe in every particular.

All marketable securities received in exchange at full rates, and bonds delivered to all parts of the country, free of express charges.

Maps, circulars, &c., with full particulars relating to the road, furnished on application by the undersigned, Financial Agents of the Company.

First Mortgage Bonds

MOBILE & MONTGOMERY

RAILROAD COMPANY,

Indorsed by State of Alabama.

PRINCIPALL AND INTEREST

PAYABLE IN GOLD.

After a careful examination, we confidently recommend these bonds, because—

1. They are a first mortgage upon a road already completed and in successful operation, with net earnings, well established for several years, at MUCH MORE THAN ENOUGH TO PAY THE INTEREST on all the bonds authorized to be issued.

2. The proceeds of these bonds will complete an extension of fifteen miles of heavy work from Tensas into the City of Mobile, DISPENSING WITH THE PRESENT STEAM-BOAT SERVICE, CURTAILING EXPENSE AND INCREASING EFFICIENCY OF THE ROAD.

3. The road is 182 miles long. Entire mortgage, $2,500,000, or a little over $13,000 PER MILE; COST OF ROAD OVER $30,000 PER MILE.

4. It connects MOBILE and MONTGOMERY, and is a link in the route from NEW-ORLEANS to NEW-YORK, and also between the GULF and LOUISVILLE, by the insured completion of the road from MONTGOMERY north to DECATUR, being built by the LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD COMPANY, who thus display their estimate of the value of the route.

This Road is now in a condition to show its great value and its very prosperous future, covering, as it does, 100 miles of the most direct possible line between the Great Lakes and deep-water navigation of the Hudson, and opening the fine counties of Ulster, Green and Delaware to railroad facilities heretofore mostly deprived of them. Fifty miles of this road is now built, and in a most thorough and substantial manner, and EARNING ALREADY 10 PER CENT. ON THE WHOLE AMOUNT OF THE $2,000,000 OF FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS OVER RUNNING EXPENSES. The balance of the road, with its several sidings, viz.: To Hunters, twelve miles; to Woodstock, six miles; to Willow, one mile, and changing terminus from Rondout to Kingston Point, is under contract with able and responsible contractors, to be finished by July 1, 1872. It will be one of the best-built roads in the country, and the issue of Bonds is limited to $20,000 per mile of completed road. The Bonds are secured by Trust Deed to the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, covering every description of property the Rondout and Oswego Company now own, or may acquire hereafter. The price is now 90 currency and accrued interest, with the privilege of advancing the price hereafter.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.

Notice is hereby given to the stockholders of this Company, that they will have the privilege of subscribing for new stock in the proportion of one share for every five, and one share for every fraction of five shares greater than one-half, as registered in their name Oct. 20, 1871, to be paid for at the rate of seventy-five cents on the dollar.

Subscriptions will be received, and the first installment of fifty per centum will be payable between the 1st day of November and 1st day of December, 1871. Second installment of fifty per centum will be payable on the 1st day of February, 1872, and if not paid on or before that date, the right to the stock subscribed for will cease.

If stockholders prefer, the whole amount can be paid at the time of subscription. Interest to Feb. 1, 1872, at the rate of seven per centum per annum, will be allowed on all paid installments, at which time certificate of stock will be issued. This interest will be paid with the February dividend.

Stockholders registered in New-York will subscribe and pay at the office of the United States Trust Company, No. 49 Wall-st., New-York; all others at the office of the Treasurer in Cleveland, Ohio.

No subscriptions will be received after Dec. 1, 1871.

OFFICE LAKE SHORE AND MICHIGAN SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY,
CLEVELAND, Sept. 16, 1871.

TO THE HOLDERS OF THE COMMON stock of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway Company:

Notice is hereby given, that this Company offers to the holders of the common stock of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway Company Fourteen Millions of Dollars of the capital stock of this Company, issued in pursuance of the vote of the stockholders of this Company, taken under the provisions of its charter, at a meeting of the stockholders held at the City of Cleveland, Ohio, on the 27th day of July, 1871.

Each shareholder of the common stock will be entitled to forty per cent. of the par of the stock held by him, upon the payment of thirty-three and one-third per cent. of the par thereof, in the manner following, viz.: Ten per cent. of the par thereof on the 1st day of November next, the further sum of ten per cent. of the par thereof on the 1st day of December next, and the residue of said thirty-three and one-third per cent. at such time as the same may be called.

Notice of the calls for installment, payable subsequent to the 1st day of December next, will be given to the stockholders, by publication in a newspaper published in the City of Cleveland, Ohio, and also in a newspaper published in the City of New-York, at least thirty days before the day on which payment is required.

The whole of said residue will be called for on or before the 1st day of August, 1872.

If payment shall not be made in accordance with any calls which may be made, all rights to such stock shall cease, and the stock will be disposed of for the account and benefit of the Company.

Scrip certificates will be issued on the payment of the first installment (called for Nov. 1.) Payments of subsequent calls will, as the same are from time to time made, be stamped upon the scrip certificate.

The scrip certificates will be transferable on the books of the Company.

On payment of the thirty-three and one-third per cent. certificates for full-paid stock will be issued upon the surrender for cancelment of the scrip certificates.

Dividends, upon the sum of the installments actually paid in, will be declared, payable at the same rate and time as upon common stock.

Payments of the calls are to be made at the office of the Union Trust Company of New-York, and a presentation of the stock certificates will be required, to the end that the issue of the scrip certificates may be stamped thereon.

The stock transfer-books will be opened on Monday, the 25th day of September inst., and will be closed on Saturday, the 7th day of October next.
GEORGE B. ELY, Secretary.

$600,000

OF THE SEVEN PER CENT. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA RAILROAD COMPANY,
Principal due 1st January, 1888, and coupons payable in New-York 1st January and 1st July.

These bonds are the only mortgage lien on the railway and rolling stock of the corporation, and are for less than $13,000 per mile.

The gross receipts of the Company for 1870 amounted to $1,463,340 53-100; operating expenses and renewals, $916,095 82; showing a profit of $552,244 71, or $335,244 71 in excess of its annual interest of Seven per Cent. on $3,100,000 first mortgage bonds.

The South Carolina Railway is one of the earliest-built railways in the United States; its affairs have ever been managed with care and integrity, and the present condition of the property is that of complete restoration. We recommend its mortgage bonds to investors, with the assurance of their being a first-class security.

The above are offered for sale by the undersigned at 87½ per cent.

The New-York Times,
DAILY, WEEKLY AND SEMI-WEEKLY.

This journal is now thoroughly identified with the greatest political necessity of the hour—uncompromising warfare against all forms of corruption, whether in national or local government. For years past the TIMES has been exposing the demoralizing schemes of self-interested politicians, and its recent warfare upon the Tammany Democrats has been received with universal approval. It has adhered to the pledge given in its original prospectus, more than twenty years ago, that the public should be truly represented, and their interests faithfully guarded through its columns. Its record has been pure and honorable, and the highest aim of its proprietors is to render it more and more worthy of its past history, and of the confidence which the public repose in it. Two out of three of the original proprietors still direct its policy, and guide it on all public questions. They purpose that the TIMES shall continue to keep clear of all narrow and unworthy influences and cliques, and aim to represent the great body of the public, as distinguished from personal factions. It occupies a perfectly independent position, and is free to speak the truth on all subjects and about all men. Its greatly increased circulation throughout the country adds to its power and influence. It will continue to be a faithful exponent of Republican principles, and advocate with untiring energy every cause which tends to further the welfare of the people. The utmost care will be devoted to gathering political news from special sources during the Presidential canvass. This department of the paper will be unusually full and trustworthy. Renewed enterprise will be exhibited in every department of the paper, and large space will be devoted to reports of speeches made during elections, or on other important political occasions.

A very full summary of news, and many general articles of great interest, are published in the Semi-weekly editions; and in the Weekly edition there is an unabridged report of the proceedings at the Farmers' Club, an excellent summary of political information, and a great variety of matter suitable for family reading.

The NEW-YORK TIMES is pre-eminently a family paper, all objectionable advertisements being rigidly excluded; and it has a constantly increasing circulation among the most respectable classes of the community.

To Advertisers.

Advertisers in the TIMES are requested to bring in their notices at as early an hour in the day as possible. If received after 9 o'clock, it will be impossible to classify them under their proper heads.

☞ For the accommodation of up-town residents, advertisements for insertion in the TIMES will be received at No. 14 West 23d-st., junction of Broadway and 5th-av., and No. 1,241 Broadway, at same rates as are charged at office of publication.

☞ Messrs. DREXEL, HARJES & Co., Bankers, No. 3 Rue Scribe, Paris, are the accredited agents for the NEW-YORK TIMES in that city.

Notice.

We cannot notice anonymous communications. In all cases we require the writer's name and address, not for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. We cannot under any circumstances return rejected communications, nor can we undertake to preserve manuscripts.

The GERMAN EDITION of the Pamphlet published by the TIMES, containing a complete history of the Tammany Frauds, is now ready. The large number of orders received will be filled as rapidly as possible, in the order in which they came to hand. The Pamphlet will be sold at six cents a copy, or $4 per hundred to dealers. All orders to be addressed to the NEW-YORK TIMES.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The supporters of the Emperor NAPOLEON, in Paris, are growing bolder in their intrigues for his restoration....Gen. MANTEUFFEL, in a letter, says that a misconception of his orders caused him to delay the evacuation of the Department of the Oise....Article three in the Customs Treaty has been rejected by BISMARCK, and therefore abandoned by M. THIERS. ....Belgium has not refused to modify its commercial treaty with France....Several vessels were wrecked Friday at the mouth of the Humber, England....The cholera has become epidemic at Constantinople; on Saturday there were seventy deaths from it....Don ESPARTERO, in receiving King AMADEUS, at Logrono, Spain, made a very strong speech in favor of the Savoian dynasty. ....It is proposed to exempt the external debt from taxation in Spain....It is not decided who is to be President of the Spanish Cortes.... The Secretary of the Treasury has instructed the Assistant Treasurer in this City to buy $2,000,000 of bonds each Wednesday, and sell $2,000,000 of gold each Thursday during October. ....The Controller of Currency will soon call for a report on the condition of national banks throughout the country....The suspension bridge over Wheeling Creek, at Wheeling, Va., broke down yesterday, carrying with it nine persons, two of whom were killed and several fatally wounded....Secretary BOUTWELL has returned to Washington from Ohio, and reports that the Republican prospects in that State are very encouraging....The internal revenue returns for the last month are $10,632,615 47 —more than two millions less than the same month last year....A large number of the old hotels in Washington have been permanently closed....A large fire occurred on Saturday in Chicago, which destroyed the Burlington Building, with $800,000 worth of property. It is thought that four lives were also lost.

The Corruption of Public Men.

Anything which the Nation has to say on the questions of the hour deserves to be read with attention. There is, to be sure, one considerable defect in the method which our contemporary has chosen for conveying its opinions, and it is this—one never knows precisely what it wants. Sometimes, indeed, it is quite clear that it wants the millennium, and as it cannot get that, it sits down by the wayside and has a prolonged growl at all the passers-by. We should be very glad to see one number of the Nation in which somebody was satisfied with something. Its discontent with the Republican Party approaches the point at which discontent becomes about the same thing, as CICERO says, as hatred—odii non dissimilis offensio. Its remonstrances are always made in anger, and its advice is delivered in the harsh tones of a scold. Nevertheless, there is generally something worth thinking over in the upbraidings of the Nation, and last week it published an article which is even better worth consideration than usual.

This article sets forth divers "Things for all Republicans to consider." In the first place, we are told that we must partly trace the corruption of the day, and the bad character of public men, to our own misdeeds. "Providence does not rain tyrants or peculators on any people; he lets them earn them through vices of their own." The Committee of Seventy also took pains to impress this truth upon the people lately in its "Address," in which it was distinctly stated that the "stream could not rise higher then the source,"—we believe that was the phrase. Supposing, then, the people admit that for their own transgressions they are punished with TWEED, HALL and SWEENY—and we must say that these are very strange persons to be selected by Providence as its special instruments of chastising the froward—the next question is, what are they to do to be relieved of the burden? And here, as usual when we come to ponder on the Nation's rebukes, the practical part of the lesson seems scarcely worth the teacher's time and trouble. So far as we can discern the meaning of the Nation, the responsibility for the present degraded state of our politics rests primarily upon newspaper editors, and in a secondary degree upon Gen. GRANT. We, for instance, it appears, leave the public in the lurch, in that we do not criticise the Administration—that is, do not honestly criticise it, which means, do not criticise it from the Nation's point of view. For that is the whole secret of that particular complaint—we do not happen to agree with the Nation on the subject of the present Administration—consequently it holds that we do not criticise it honestly. The Nation goes on to point out that the Collector of the Port, Mr. THOMAS MURPHY, affords as lamentable an instance of the degraded type of public men as TWEED or SWEENY, or even HALL; it rejoices over the fact that it opposed Mr. MURPHY's appointment; and it "solemnly" calls upon the Republican Party to consider whether "they are prepared to have the abominable system under which men like MURPHY find their way into the chief offices of the nation, sustained for four years longer." We must not omit to say that in the course of its argument it praises the Tribune highly for its attacks upon Mr. MURPHY.

Now we do not suppose that the Nation will be satisfied with this abridgement of its article, because, as we say, it is never satisfied with anything; but we believe we have given the gist of its argument. It seems to us an argument unworthy of the subject, and of the peculiar difficulties of our present condition. In the first place, the Nation gives great applause to the Tribune for doing that which is prompted only by factional animosity. Collector MURPHY is not Senator FENTON's friend, therefore the Tribune goes in to "smash" MURPHY, and if it could have its own way, one of Mr. FENTON's particular chums would be nominated in his place—a man like HANK SMITH, or BEN. MANIERRE, or RUFE ANDREWS. The Nation must see this quite as plainly as everybody else can do, and therefore its reference to the course of the Tribune in relation to Mr. MURPHY, as affording an example of what it would have all newspapers do, is only saying in other words, "Never allow your political opponents, or anybody distasteful to you, to hold office." That rule, it seems to us, has prevailed far too largely in politics already. It would have been far more to the purpose if the Nation had said, "Let newspaper editors decline to be made the mouth-piece of any set of politicians. Let their journals be organs of public opinion in the fullest sense—not bound to 'support' this or that leader or clique." That is what we hope the great newspapers will come to.

With regard to Mr. MURPHY, the Nation is probably not aware that we protested against his appointment, in language which the Tribune chuckled over the other day, and of which we see no reason to be ashamed. While we were protesting, the Tribune was silent, although it has grown so horribly virtuous and indignant since. We may fairly say that we dealt very frankly with Mr. MURPHY—but we have been assured by practical men that the Collector's Department has been exceedingly well managed under Mr. MURPHY's direction, and as for the contract business, we confess that the testimony is so conflicting that at the risk of being called "knaves" or "idiots," we should hesitate to pronounce any man guilty on the strength of it. Were we on a jury in such a case, we should ask for more evidence. "I have gone carefully over the whole matter," said some one the other day who deserves to be called an honest and independent Republican, if any man does—whom even the Tribune admits to be sincere and disinterested—"and I firmly believe that Mr. MURPHY is innocent of the charges brought against him by OLCOTT, MURRAY, and others." We admit at once, and the Nation may scold us for our obtuseness if it pleases, that the testimony published in the Tribune does not, in our opinion, convict Mr MURPHY of the charges brought against him. And we say this at the risk of being dubbed a "Custom-house organ," the "hired advocate of Mr. MURPHY," &c., &c.

Whether Mr. MURPHY is the proper man for the position he occupies—whether, that is, he is a wise and competent party leader (for so the Collector of this port, it seems, must be)—is another question, and one upon which we have once expressed our opinion. As for charging to Mr. MURPHY's account the present disorganization of the Republican Party in this State, and the corruption which so widely prevails, it is simply ridiculous. The disease has been of gradual growth, and all parties have assisted to encourage it. Senator FENTON is not innocent, as the Nation is doubtless aware. Without going further into that point—for it is useless to say that any single man did the mischief, although some men have done more than others—we maintain that the Nation does not go far enough in its treatment of the disorder. We must have an entire change in the present system of distributing offices, and the standard of public thought and feeling in relation to politics must be raised much higher, and these eternal personal "rows" must be stopped, before we can make sure of putting the best men into good offices. Certain it is that nothing would be gained by exchanging "TOM MURPHY" for a man of the "HANK SMITH" type, which is the kind of "radical reform" the Tribune would carry out. The present method of "managing" the Republican Party in this State, and the incompetency of some of its leaders to appreciate the gravity of the times in which they live, or the power of the forces which are at work in the public mind—are no less deplorable in our eyes than they are in those of the Nation. We consider, for instance, that the platform actually adopted at Syracuse, and that which the Tribune publishes as having been prepared by its own section of the party, are both miserably inadequate to the crisis through which we are passing. Both consist largely of empty platitudes, stale reminiscences, and lifeless expressions of opinion. The people are very far in advance of the "politicians"—as, happily for the country, they usually are in time of trouble. Every intelligent man feels much more strongly about the danger of political corruption, and the urgent necessity of reform, than the delegates at Syracuse (with few exceptions) appear to have done. The Nation seems to think (and the Tribune openly asserts) that all would go well if we only had Mr. THOMAS MURPHY out of the Custom-house, and Mr. CONKLING out of the Senate. We only wish that the malady under which all public life is withering could be reached by so simple a remedy as that.

Why the Treasury is Empty—Facts for the City Employes.

We have now a little more light as to where the money has gone which ought to be in the Treasury to pay the laborers, policemen, firemen, school teachers, and other honest employes of the City. After two months' delay the Ring's printing presses have released a small installment of the figures consigned to them for concealment in August last. It will be remembered that at that time the Mayor promised a full report of City expenditures for the preceding thirty-one months, as soon as it could be printed. On Saturday our reporters discovered that proof-slips of that statement for three months were in the Controller's office. We print the facts gathered from them.

They show that the following amounts were expended for the quarter ending March 31, of this year:

On account of appropriations	$4,155,806 49
On special and trust account	2,043,182 31
On revenue bonds	3,080,000 00
Total	$9,278,988 80

Thus it will be seen that for the City alone, money was spent at the rate of over $37,000,000 a year, or one half more than that bare-faced fraud, the Two per Cent. bill, allowed for the City and County together. And this rate of expenditure had actually been reached when the Ring was trying to deceive the tax-payers with the pretense that the amount fixed by that bill would be the limit of the burden for this year.

Let us see how much of this money went to the employes of the City, whom the Ring are now trying to incite to riot against those who have checked, for the present, the "highway robbery" in the City Treasury. We have already shown how much eleven noted concerns drew from the County. We now add the amounts they received for three months of this year only from the City, and this is the way it foots up:

INGERSOLL & Co. (Furniture.)
County	$2,619,639 23
City	240,564 63	$2,860,203 86
A. J. GARVEY, (Plaster, &c.)
County	$2,905,464 06
City	126,161 90	$3,031,625 96
J. H. KEYSER & Co., (Plumbing, &c.)
County	$1,231,817 76
City	1,149,874 50	$2,381,692 26
GEORGE S. MILLER, (Carpenter-work, &c.)
County	$1,421,755 42
City	88,074 29	$1,509,829 71
J. McBRIDE DAVIDSON, (Safes.)

MANUFACTURING STATIONERS.
County	$97,881 21
City	186,499 61	$284,380 82
Total		$13,151,198 39

This tells why laborers cannot be paid. Their money has been stolen. How much of this thirteen millions have they got in the past? How much would they have got from similar frauds, had the Ring not been checked? Do the Ring leaders think that because the laborers earn their bread by day's work, they are such fools as not to understand the simple story of these figures? If they do, they are reckoning without their host.

Chinese "Politics."

The Chinese are true to their traditions. They have been watching the proceedings of our squadron and the invasion of Corea with profound interest, and they have lately favored the Celestial world with a highly original account of them. It will be remembered that the late operations under Admiral RODGERS resulted, to put the matter concisely, in the destruction of five Corean forts, with the loss of three men of the attacking force. This has been described to the Chinese public by their official purveyors of news in the following manner: "Great victory over the Yang Kuay-tz! One thousand foreigners killed! Four foreign ships caught in the river and unable to get out!" This bears a delicious family resemblance to the Herald's long-continued treatment of the Ring frauds, and suggests that that paper must have made a study of the ingenuous vermillion edicts which are obviously so much after its own heart.

Elated, no doubt, by the cheering intelligence of Yang Kuay-tz's discomfiture, the Chinese appear to be getting ready for their periodic crusades against foreigners. Reports are at hand of the likelihood of an outbreak at Canton, and it seems to be true that a Protestant chapel at Fatshan has been destroyed. No foreigners had been actually attacked at last accounts, and perhaps the action promptly taken at Hong Kong may prevent such a misfortune. It is stated that Her British Majesty's steam-ship Thistle was dispatched from the latter port to Canton on the 23d of July, and a considerable number of troops have been collected and held in readiness to operate at short notice if required. The Mandarins seem to have taken steps to allay the excitement; but of course it may blaze up afresh, and violence be precipitated by a number of conceivable accidents. The Chinese always have specious pretexts for their behavior in such cases—"cries," that is to say, not necessarily believed in by the more educated classes, but invented to exasperate the multitude. The story this time is that the foreigners have been selling a peculiar drug which has very deleterious effects on those who take it. This stuff is known as the "Evil-genius Mixture," or "Shan Sin Fan," and has become a universal theme of discussion and alarm.

It has become known that a number of secret societies certainly exist, the object of which is to foment discord between the Chinese Government and the foreign Powers. One of their methods of operating has consisted in secretly distributing Shan Sin Fan, and imputing the act to the foreigners. The substance is in the form of powder, and a competent gentleman got hold of some of it the other day and analyzed it, when the composition proved to be simply rice-flour, with the addition of a little red coloring matter. In most countries the publication of this fact would be sufficient to destroy the malefic repute of the "Evil-genius Mixture," but not so in China. A true statement of the ingredients would, without question, be promptly subjected to the process applied so refreshingly to the news from Corea, and the "Red Devils" be duly branded with hate and reprobation. There is only one argument that is always and absolutely convincing in dealing with these small-eyed children of CONFUCIUS, and for their sakes we hope the Mandarins will retain sufficient influence to prevent the foreign Powers from being obliged to use it.

A Great Strike.

The struggle between employers and employed at the engine-works along the River Tyne is at present a drawn battle. The majority of the Union men who went out have found employment elsewhere, and on the side of the masters there is the partial victory of being able to claim that their workshops contain nearly one-half of their original number of occupants. The statistics of this curious contest are, so far, as follows: About the end of May last 6,595 workmen turned out on strike, on the refusal of their employers to accede to the request of reducing their working hours from fifty-nine to fifty-four per week. The continent of Europe was scoured for workmen, after it became obvious that the Unions would accept no compromise. In spite of the powerful opposition of agents of the International Society, the agents of the masters induced 1,917 foreign workmen to accept employment on the Tyne. Of these, according to the employers' statement, 187 were induced to break their contracts by the men on strike. Eleven returned after desertion, and there are at present 1,741 foreigners employed in the place of the rebellious natives. Some of the old hands did not go out at all, and between them and new workmen engaged on the spot, there are 1,375 English workmen employed in the engine-shops, making a total at work of 3,116, against 6,595 who went out. From the first week of the strike, there has been a steady diminution of the numbers in receipt of pecuniary aid from the workmen's league. By the latest accounts there were but 2,074 men out of employment and in receipt of a little over two dollars per week in currency, with a further allowance of twenty-five cents for each one of their children, from the Unions. A very trifling proportion of the men on strike returned to their employment, so that about 4,500 men have been absorbed by the current demand in other parts of the country.

The real interest of this fight centres in the fact that it has brought, for the first time, into decided prominence, the international character of the labor question. So far as his European brethren are concerned, the English workman is fighting in the van of a struggle for the social elevation of his class. In Holland, Belgium, Prussia and Switzerland, the wages of engineers, iron ship-builders and similar trades, are from forty to fifty per cent. lower than in England. The standard of living is also very much lower, the Continental workman being content with meat once, or at most twice, a week, while the English artisan of the same class has it, as a rule, twice a day. Trades-unions may be the means of preventing the workmen of one part of the country from defeating the strike going on in another part. To control the foreign workmen they are absolutely powerless, and just at this point begin the functions of the International Society, and on this basis rests the tremendous possibilities of the future of that organization. If Flemish, Swiss and German workmen can be brought to see that the interest of the laboring class is identical the world over, and that their own social elevation is impossible unless they make common cause with whatever section is fighting for shorter hours or higher pay, the field will be tolerably clear to extract from the employers as large a share of their profits as they are willing to give without abandoning the trade altogether. Of course, everything depends on the prudence with which the leaders of the working men carry on the contest. They may force matters to the extent of sending the demand for home-made machinery to foreign marts. In this case, the workmen express their readiness to follow it, apparently losing sight of the fact that the remedy would be worse than the disease, inasmuch as by the very fact of production being cheaper, wages must be lower, and, as is the case at present, the hours of labor more extended.

The influence of the International with the workmen of the continent of Europe is manifest from the fact that, comparatively speaking, so few men were induced by the agents of the employers to accept the very tempting bribe offered them to go to England. It is possible enough that, in course of time, a strong political sympathy may arise between the workmen of all nations, as a result of their fraternity in trade interests. It seems pretty obvious, however, that no such feeling has as yet been developed. The organs of the English trades are filled with tirades against the engineering firms like the following:

> "Men who can bring in foreigners to beat down English labor must be destitute of all patriotism, and, if the workmen found themselves strong enough, they would be quite justified in requiring the chief offenders to dispose of their interest in their works to other capitalists, and retire from a business which they are morally unfit to conduct.
>
> "They are as utterly Carthagenian in spirit, as if England's wealth was everything, and England herself nothing. If such men desire to carry their capital elsewhere, let them go and take it with them. If they want foreign workmen and the poor fellows will not stay here when they get them, let them go to Belgium, Prussia, Denmark, or wherever else they can get their pound of flesh, full weight. Thank God, England can do without such men. But she cannot do without her sturdy, honest workers; men who can enrich and defend her; men who love her because she is their mother; and who in a sense of what is due to her and to themselves, will not consent to be the submissive drudges of those who exalt money-making above every other human virtue."

All of which tends to show that the English workmen are about equally insensible to the "inexorable logic" of political economy, and to the cosmopolitan theories of the Society which has done them good service in their hour of need. The German Socialist fought against GAMBETTA, and the English Radical has evidently the same prejudices as the most intense aristocrat against whom he declaims.

The "Sick Man" of the East.

The growing power of Russia is evidently creating not a little uneasiness in Europe, and it is said by those who see cause for apprehension that more was really said and done at the Gastein Conference about the Eastern question than the public has yet been given to understand. It is plain enough that, if the conjoined interest of Germany and Austria can be subserved by acting in concert with the Western Powers, Russia may be arrested, and that fated march of hers to the Bosphorus indefinitely postponed. But there are no indications of any such concert in a sense favorable to England and France, and, on the contrary, there are strong indications of a private understanding between Germany and the Czar that may pave the way to serious consequences. The order to substitute the study of German for that of French in all the Russian schools, the warmth of the Russian diplomatic relations with Berlin, the incessant military activity of which we get only occasional hints, all imply propitiation of the dominant central power and readiness to avail of any opportunity for putting in practice a long-cherished scheme. The humiliation of one of the Allies of the Crimean war, and the imputed unwillingness to quarrel and certain unfavorable condition for quarreling of the other, render the time favorable for what Germany alone could now apparently prevent. It is not to be supposed that Russia has abandoned her designs on Constantinople; and, if she has not, the sole question that will influence her course relates to time and opportunity.

The abrogation of those clauses in the Treaty of 1856 which provided for the neutralization of the Black Sea, may be set down as the sure forerunner of collision. Hostilities may be long deferred, but cannot permanently be averted; the geographical and political elements unite with ethnological ones to make the Russian movement toward the Golden Horn all but inevitable. It is all very well to say that the signatory Powers are bound to defend the integrity of the Ottoman Empire; but if Germany, Russia and Austria determine to abrogate more clauses in the Treaty, or to set it aside altogether, such things have been done before. It is a significant fact that the European Press has begun so closely to examine the Russian and Turkish Navies, and to compare their respective force. Many will be surprised to hear that Turkey has actually more guns afloat than Russia has, and when this is remembered, in connection with the circumstance that Russia has a far more extended coast line to defend than Turkey, as well as a much more extensive mercantile marine to look out for, the point becomes important. Russia, we should observe, has more ships and more seamen; but many of her ships are old, while most of the Turkish Fleet is new, as the consequence of the heavy losses at Sinope in 1853. The precise figures are given as follows:

	Russia.	Turkey.
Iron-clads	24	13
Other steam-vessels	168	97
Sailing-vessels	29	63
Guns	2,270	2,383
Seamen and marines, including officers	64,021	34,000

As a further set off against apparent disparity, some of the Turkish ships are of immense force, the Osman Ghasy, one of the number, being both larger and more powerful than any ship of the Russian Navy. The engineers of the Turkish ships, and some of the other officers, are from Western Europe, and are carefully-picked men. As regards the sailors, the Turks always fight bravely, and their conduct on the sea has seldom failed to do them honor. Finally, we may say that since the discussion of probabilities has become so open and spirited, HOBART PASHA, a well-known Admiral of the Turkish service, has written a letter to a London journal, in which there occur the following passages: "It has been said that if the Turkish Navy is able to repel any attack from Russia on the Black Sea, the peace of Europe may remain for years undisturbed on the Eastern question. I venture to assure you that the Turkish Navy is perfectly able at the present moment to repel any attack from Russia in the Black Sea, and I firmly believe will always be able to do so."

No doubt Turkey is relatively stronger, in the maritime sense, than has been commonly supposed; but whether she is better able to cope single-handed with her gigantic neighbor than she was in 1856 is less certain. It is, at all events, obvious that the abrogation of the clauses of neutralization must oblige Turkey to maintain her navy at a very high point of strength and efficiency, since nothing less than national existence itself depends upon it.

MINOR TOPICS.

The foreign journals which discuss the state of affairs in New-York are chiefly puzzled over one question—how is it that after immense frauds have been proved against the City officials, they should still be allowed to retain their offices? "Here," says the London Times, "the inculpated persons could not hold their positions a day, and would never dream of attempting to do so." Whereas, in New-York, TWEED is running for Senator, SWEENY is going on as if nothing had happened, and A. OAKEY HALL can still boast that he is Mayor of New-York. Is it all right?

There is food for reflection in the lists of delegates to the Democratic State Convention which we print this morning. One is that of the Tammany men, the other that of the Reformers. The latter contains names that can speak for themselves. The former is unique in its brazen defiance of honest public opinion. Every form of rascality and ill-repute is represented, from ALICK FREAR, the Ring whipper-in in the Assembly, through the rebel Assistant District-Attorney FELLOWS, the gambling-house keeper MITCHELL, and the various rum-sellers down to reporters on the Ring newspapers. We believe honest men have only to read the lists in order to know which one should, in the interest of good government, be admitted to the Convention.

All is not lovely with the Bishop of Stuhlweissenburg, in Hungary. This prelate is an ultramontane. He believes in the Pope, and in the right of the Pope to be proclaimed infallible without having to ask anybody's consent thereto. Accordingly he made proclamation of the Pope's infallibility without Imperial permission, for which he has been summoned to Pesth, and in the presence of all the Ministers in full Court dress, has been told by Count ANDRASSEY that he had incurred the "Royal disapprobation and displeasure," and that he (the Count) was commissioned to convey to the Bishop "the Royal rebuke," and to express hope "that he will pay due respect to the laws and to the orders of his Majesty in future." This ceremony is not likely to hurt the Bishop's prospects ecclesiastically, but it is a solemn way of snubbing the Pope, which his Holiness will doubtless appreciate.

A very clear idea of the feeling in the interior of the State, with reference to Tammany may be gathered from the expressions made by Gen. JNO. A. GREEN, of Syracuse, to a TIMES reporter. The views of this leader of what Tammany sneeringly calls the "hay-loft and cheese-press" Democrats, are very pronounced. He proposes "war to the knife, and the knife to the hilt," and he and his backers are not so easily scared or bought after such a declaration, as was the New-York World under similar circumstances.

Of all things that are costly at first, theatrical paraphernalia seem most unsalable. The inside of the Victoria Theatre, in London, was sold at auction the other day, when the prices obtained were quite absurd. The stage—one of the largest anywhere—including all its fittings, with "traps, sliders, slots, and machinery," brought just fifty dollars. The central gas chandelier, a very handsome one, fetched the same price. Eleven private boxes, with Corinthian pilasters and capitals, cornice, floor-boards, joists, partitions, and upholstery, were knocked down for twelve dollars each. The entire dress-circle, seats and all, brought no more. It is plain that capital invested in this way must be counted gone, except in so far as it is available for its original use.

If we do not work fast we shall be beaten even by the Mussulmen of Turkey. There is to be an under-ground railway in Constantinople, not very long, to be sure, to run between Galata and Pera. The tunnel is to be worked on the pneumatic principle, and work upon it is to begin directly. Considering all that is said and done about the "effete" Ottoman Empire, the number of progressive, liberal, and enterprising acts which are done there at least deserve to be respectfully acknowledged.

Amusements.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR TO-NIGHT.

The bills in reference to this evening's entertainments are unusually promise-crammed. The season of English opera at the Academy opens with a performance of "The Daughter of the Regiment." Herr WACHTEL will add to his list of triumphs that surely awaiting him in "Martha," at the Stadt. "Eileen Oge" will be brought out at the Grand Opera-house. "The Streets of New-York" are to be illustrated with much magnificence at Niblo's. At Wood's Museum, Miss LUCILLE WESTERN will appear in "Oliver Twist."....Finally, a complete change of programme is to be made at the Union-square Theatre....The Paris Pavilion Circus entertainments extend over the week. They are attractive in all respects, and can be attended with a comfort never until now supposed to be attainable under canvas.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Republican Prospects in Ohio—Reports from the Internal Revenue Bureau—Prominent Arrivals—Miscellaneous.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Secretary BOUTWELL returned this morning from his visit to Ohio. He represents the Republicans vigorous and confident, which is the reverse of the condition of the Democracy, whose candidate for Governor has withdrawn from the canvass, and whose State Central Committee Chairman, Senator THURMAN, is on the sick list, leaving the Democratic canvass in an unorganized condition. The only apprehensions entertained by Republicans are in regard to the legislative tickets in Hamilton and Cuyahoga Counties, where the Democrats have accepted fusion tickets, nominated by disaffected Republicans, but the best posted men in the State are confident that the gains in other counties will still save the Legislature to the Republicans, even if the fusion tickets should be elected in these counties.

INTERNAL REVENUE RETURNS.

The receipts of internal revenue for the month of September were $10,632,615 47, against $12,901,903 36 for the same month last year. The receipts for the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1871, are $36,146,469 54, against $51,774,786 87 for the same quarter last year. The receipts for the current fiscal year thus far are fully up to the estimates of the Secretary of the Treasury.

AGRICULTURAL WEALTH OF NEW-YORK.

The following interesting comparative table presents the agricultural statistics of New-York, as shown by the census of 1870, compared with that of 1860. It contains many valuable and instructive facts:

PERSONAL.

Among the prominent arrivals in the City are Gov. RANDOLPH, of New-Jersey; R. M. POMEROY and OLIVER AMES, of Massachusetts; FRANK E. HOWE and Major KILBURN KNOX, of New-York; Judge ALDIS, of Vermont; N. S. CHOUTEAU, of St. Louis; S. L. HOGE, of South Carolina, and Ex-Senator CLINGMAN, of North Carolina.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Southern Claims Commission will resume its sittings in this city during the present week. During the vacation opinions have been prepared by the members in about 150 cases, and the decisions will at once be rendered.

Washington promises to be sadly off for hotel accommodations during the coming Winter. Willard's has been closed since July, and will remain so. The Seaton House has been closed and rented to the Government, whilst the Kirkwood is closed absolutely, and the furniture of the Metropolitan is advertised to be sold at auction. There have been added only two hotels to the list, viz.: Wormley's, corner of Fifteenth and H streets, and the Hamilton House, corner of Fourteenth and K streets. These have been rebuilt, and, though small, will be first class in every other respect. The Arlington proprietors have leased contiguous houses, so as to be able to furnish accommodations for about 100 additional guests.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The Secretary of the Treasury has instructed the Assistant Treasurer at New-York to buy $2,000,000 of bonds each Wednesday, and sell $2,000,000 of gold each Thursday during the month of October.

The Controller of the Currency will soon call for a report of the condition of the national banks, although it seems probable that the order upon the banking associations will be delayed as late as possible consistent with the incorporation of the statements in his forthcoming annual report.

INDEPENDENCE HALL.

Presentation of a Portrait of Josiah Bartlett, one of the Signers of the Declaration.

The collection of portraits of signers of the Declaration of Independence in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, has just been increased by the addition of a copy of a picture by TRUMBULL of Hon. JOSIAH BARTLETT, of New-Hampshire, presented by one of his descendants, now residing in Brooklyn. The Councils of Philadelphia were on Thursday last officially notified of the gift by Mayor FOX, who sent to them the following special message:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR OF THE CITY OF PHILADELPHIA. }

To the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia:

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to transmit for your acceptance a copy of TRUMBULL'S portrait of Gov. JOSIAH BARTLETT, of New-Hampshire, who represented that State in the Continental Congress, and who (it is said) was the first to vote for, and the first after the President (JOHN HANCOCK) to sign the Declaration of Independence. This honored patriot, after having served his country with zeal and fidelity as a Delegate to Congress, was, in 1780, appointed a Judge of the Superior Court of New-Hampshire, in which office he continued until his elevation to the Chief-Justiceship of that State. He was also an active member of the Convention for adopting the Confederation in 1788. In 1790 he became President of New-Hampshire, and in 1793 was chosen the first Governor of the State under the new form of government. In 1794 he retired from the Chief Magistracy of the State, and from all public employment, and on May 19, 1795, he died, having the reputation of purity, ability and integrity.

The circumstances under which the picture of this distinguished man and patriot were obtained are as follows:

In the month of September, 1870, I had the pleasure to receive from Mr. S. M. GALE (one of his descendants, residing in Newburyport, Mass.,) a very kind letter, apprising me that there was an original (TRUMBULL) picture of Gov. BARTLETT in possession of Mr. JOSIAH BARTLETT, (also a grandson,) residing in Brooklyn, Long Island; that the latter-named gentleman, with a patriotic object, had presented a copy of the portrait to the Legislature of New-Hampshire; and suggesting, in view of the coming Centennial Anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, the importance, as far as practically can be, of obtaining pictures of the signers previous to the arrival of that important period, and that it was very probable, were an application made to Mr. BARTLETT, he would have another copy made and presented to the authorities of Philadelphia, to be added to the collection already in Independence Hall. Realizing the value of the thought as presented by Mr. GALE, I accordingly wrote to Mr. BARTLETT, soliciting, in behalf of our people, a copy of the picture; to which the latter-named gentleman most kindly and promptly responded, saying that he would furnish the copy so soon as the same could be made, and on Saturday last I had the gratification to receive by express, at this office, the picture mentioned, which I now have the pleasure, on behalf of Mr. JOSIAH BARTLETT, to present to the City of Philadelphia, to be added to the collection of portraits of the patriotic heroes now adorning the walls of Independence Hall, and I respectfully recommend that a fitting acknowledgment be adopted and transmitted to the gentleman who so kindly and patriotically bestowed the gift.

I also take pleasure in attaching copies of the correspondence in connection with the subject of this communication. Very respectfully,

DANIEL M. FOX,
Mayor of Philadelphia.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE STATE ELECTIONS.

[illegible] of the Year thus far—Contests in Important States in October—Candidates and Statistics.

October brings us another series of important elections. The record of the year thus far has been satisfactory to the Republican Party. The defeat in New-Hampshire in March, [illegible] aggravating from its unexpectedness, has seemed to effect good by its influence in other and more important States. Connecticut, in April, gave a gratifying Republican victory, followed two days after by a like result in Rhode Island. On the 4th of April certain proposed amendments to the Constitution of Florida were ratified by the people, and in Michigan, on the same day, the Republicans elected their candidates for Justices of the Supreme Court and Regents of the University by large majorities, besides carrying the Fourth Congressional District, where an election was held to fill a vacancy. In May, a special vote was taken in Minnesota, on the proposition to redeem the railroad bonds, this not being a partisan measure, and it was rejected by a majority of over 12,000 votes in a total of less than 22,000. And on the same day Nebraska voted to hold a convention to revise its Constitution and elected delegates thereto. In August the Democrats carried Kentucky, as usual, although there was a gratifying increase in the Republican vote. In August, North Carolina was gloriously redeemed, rejecting, by a large majority, a Democratic proposition ostensibly to hold a convention for the revision of its State Constitution, but really intended to facilitate the efforts of the Democrats to retain complete control of the State. West Virginia, which had in April ratified the Flick Amendment to its State Constitution, thus restoring the suffrage to those who had lost it through their participation in the rebellion, held another election in August, and decided in favor of a convention to revise its State Constitution, which is regarded as a Democratic victory. As stated below, there is to be still another election in this State in October. Then, in September, Maine recorded its usual annual Republican victory, and that too, by a largely increased majority, influenced perhaps by the glad tidings which California had sent from the far West a week previous, where the Republicans elected their candidate for Governor, all three Congressmen, and a majority of the Legislature on joint ballot, thus securing the election of a United States Senator. On the 19th of the same month, the State of Nebraska held a special election on its proposed new Constitution, and it has apparently been rejected. Other less important elections have occurred in Wyoming, Colorado, and New-Mexico, the first two being carried by the Republicans and the last by the Democrats. The elections during the present month are enumerated below.

TEXAS.

Texas will hold a special election for Congressmen, beginning Tuesday, Oct. 3, and continuing four days. The canvass has been a very energetic and bitter one on both sides, and has been conducted mainly on the issue of Gov. DAVIS' Administration. The result is doubtful, especially as the Republicans are divided in two of the four districts. The following are the candidates:

Dist.	Republican.	Democratic.
1.	George W. Whitmore.	W. S. Herndon.
2.	Alex. M. Bryant, A. B. Norton, Ind.	J. C. Connor.
3.	Wm. T. Clark. L. D. Stevenson, Ind.	D. C. Giddings.
4.	Edward Degener.	John Hancock.

The statement that a vote is to be taken at this time on the question of dividing the State is incorrect. The vote of the State for Governor in 1869 was: Republican, 39,838; Democratic and Independent, 39,500. Republican majority, 338. The vote for Congressmen resulted as follows:

	1st Dist.	2d Dist.	3d Dist.	4th Dist.
Republican	8,456	4,355	16,582	9,312
Democratic	7,406	6,378	8,564	9,240
Majority	1,050	2,023	8,018	17

It will be seen that in 1869 the Republicans carried three districts, and that on the total vote for Congressmen they had a majority of 7,117 votes.

RHODE ISLAND.

On Monday, Oct. 9, the people of Rhode Island will vote on three amendments to their State Constitution. The first relieves alien residents from the property qualification requisite to enable them to vote, and establishes an educational qualification. The second abolishes Registry laws. The third prohibits appropriations for sectarian schools or the imposition of taxes in their behalf.

OHIO.

On Thursday, Oct. 10, three important elections occur. Of these, Ohio elects its State officers and Legislature, and will decide whether a convention shall be held to revise its State Constitution. There seems to be little doubt of the election of the Republican ticket for State officers, and the chief interest centres in the struggle for the control of the Legislature, as that body will elect a United States Senator in place of Hon. JOHN SHERMAN, and have control of the new apportionment of the State for the election of Congressmen. The last Legislature, which was elected in 1869, was politically divided as follows:

	Rep.	Dem.	Reformers.
Senate	17	18	2
House	52	54	5

The "Reformers" have usually acted with the Democrats, and thus given them the control of the Legislature, after securing to them its organization. The State has been newly apportioned into legislative districts under the recent census, and the next Senate will consist of thirty-six members, a decrease of one; and the House of 105 members, a decrease of seven. The candidates of the two parties for State officers are:

	Republican.	Democratic.
Governor	Edw'd F. Noyes.	Geo. W. McCook.
Lieut.-Governor	Jacob Mueller.	Sam'l F. Hunt.
Supreme Judge	W. H. West.	Geo. W. Geddes.
Attorney-Gen.	F. B. Pond.	Edw'd S. Wallace.
Auditor	James Williams.	Jos. R. Cockerill.
Treasurer	Isaac R. Welch.	Gustav Bruehl.
Public Works	R. R. Hosmer.	Arthur Hughes.
School Com'r	T. W. Harvey.	Wm. W. Ross.

The Prohibitionists last March put in nomination the following State ticket, of which little, if anything, has recently been heard: For Governor, GIDEON T. STEWART; Lieutenant-Governor, P. M. WADDLE; Commissioner of Public Works, L. B. SILVER; Supreme Judge, SAMUEL E. ADAMS; Treasurer, THOMAS EVANS, Jr.; Attorney-General, JAMES W. STINCHCOMB; School Commissioner, SOLOMON HOWARD; Auditor, W. B. CHADWICK.

In 1870 the vote of Ohio for Secretary of State was: Republican, 221,715; Democratic, 205,047; Temperance, 2,812. Republican majority over all, 13,856. In 1869 the Republican majority in the vote for Governor was 7,518, the candidates being Gen. RUTHERFORD B. HAYES and Hon. GEORGE H. PENDLETON.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Next in the importance of its election comes Pennsylvania, which votes on the same day, Wednesday, Oct. 10. Great efforts are being made by the Democrats to secure control of the Legislature. The State officers to be elected are only two, and the candidates for these are:

	Republican.	Democratic.
Auditor	David Stanton.	William McCandless.
Surveyor	Robt. B. Beath.	James H. Cooper.

Some of the Radical Temperance men have nominated BENJAMIN SPANGLER for Auditor, and E. A. WHEELER for Surveyor. Philadelphia will elect its Mayor and other officers, the candidates for Mayor being WM. S. STOKLEY, Republican, and JAMES S. BIDDLE, Democrat. The people of the State are also called upon to vote upon the question of calling a Constitutional Convention, and this being regarded as non-partisan, the Chairmen of the State Committees of the two parties have united in requesting the local Committees to print and circulate tickets for and against the proposition, "in order that a fair expression may be obtained." There is also to be taken a vote upon a proposed constitutional amendment, which provides that a State Treasurer shall be chosen by the qualified electors at such times and for such term of service as shall be prescribed by law. The vote of the State for Governor in 1869 resulted as follows: Republican, 290,552; Democratic, 285,956; Republican majority, [illegible]. The Legislature last chosen was composed as follows:

	Senate.	House.	Joint Ballot.
Republicans	16	56	72
Democrats	17	44	61
Democratic maj.	1	Rep. maj. 12	11

IOWA.

Iowa on Wednesday, Oct. 10, elects State officers and legislators. The candidates are:

	Republican.	Democratic.
Governor	Cyrus C. Carpenter.	James C. Knapp.
Lieut.-Gov.	H. C. Bulis.	M. M. Ham.
Sup. Judge	James G. Day.	J. F. Duncombe.
Supt. Ins.	Alonzo Abernethy.	Ed. M. Mumm.

The vote of Iowa for Secretary of State in 1870 resulted: Republican, 103,377; Democratic, 60,888; Republican majority, 42,489.

CALIFORNIA.

California has another election on Wednesday, Oct. 18, when it will choose Judges of its Supreme Court, for the long and the short term, and Superintendent of Public Instruction. The candidates are:

	Republican.	Democratic.
Judges	A. L. Rhodes. A. C. Niles.	Jackson Temple. Selden S. Wright.
Supt. Instruction	H. N. Bolander.	O. P. Fitzgerald.

The State of California has just been carried triumphantly by the Republicans, the majority for Governor being over 5,000. Undue confidence may imperil their chances in the next election, although the prospect of defeat may act as strongly in reducing the Democratic vote, and thus preserve Republican ascendency.

WEST VIRGINIA.

On Thursday, Oct. 26, West Virginia will close the elections of the month by the election of delegates to the Constitutional Convention, which the people, as above stated, voted in August to hold. On the same day the State will choose the members of its Legislature, and county and township officers. The Legislature last chosen was composed as follows:

	Senate.	House.	Joint Ballot.
Republicans	10	16	26
Democrats	12	40	52
Democratic majority	2	24	26

THE RURAL DEMOCRATS.

The Approaching Democratic State Convention—Feeling the Pulse of Country Democrats—What Gen. John A. Green, of Syracuse, Has to Say—He Declares War Against Tweed, Sweeny, Hall and Connolly.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SYRACUSE, Thursday, Sept. 28, 1871.

The Republican Convention over, your correspondent determined to feel the Democratic pulse in the interior of the State, to see how it might beat on the subjects which are so soon to claim the attention of a Democratic State Convention. With this object in view, I made a call on that valiant militia General, JOHN A. GREEN, who is a member of the well-known grocery firm of JAYCOX & GREEN. The General was a few years ago the most prominent Democratic leader in Central New-York, but for the past two or three years has kept pretty much aloof from politics. But judging from the fact that he has just been elected a delegate to the State Convention, after a sharp fight on the part of his enemies, I judge that he is again to enter the arena. I found the General at his counting-room, and introducing myself was very courteously received. I hear that in spite of his old Copperhead propensities, the General has always been liked socially, even by his bitterest political enemy.

"Well, General," I began, "they tell me about town that your are about renewing your former active interests in State politics.

GEN. GREEN—Well, Sir, I haven't had much to do with politics the past few years. The Democratic Party has been successful, and with that fact I have been satisfied.

REPORTER—What do you think of matters in New-York?

GEN. GREEN—They present a very ugly appearance. The truth is, Sir, a half dozen of our leading men in New-York, sharing the general spirit of corruption that has been rife in the country since the war, were in a fair way to bring trouble upon the party. Of course, I refer to SWEENY, TWEED & CO. They have been allowed control of the Democratic Party for a couple of years past, and they seemed in a fair way to destroy it.

REPORTER—Well, General, what do you propose to do to prevent such a catastrophe?

GEN. GREEN—It was once remarked by DEAN RICHMOND that when the leaders of the Democratic Party got so they stole and plundered, the party would go out of power, and I've never forgotten his remark. He said Whigs could steal and keep power, but Democrats, never. What will be done, remains for the Convention to decide, but I trust these men will have good sense enough to step one side. If they do not, the Convention will have to take the matter in hand and place the control of the party in the hands of incorruptible men.

REPORTER—Who will be in the Convention?

GEN. GREEN—The Democrats in the interior are selecting their best men, determined to do their part toward making it a Convention of the highest character. GOV. SEYMOUR, FRANCIS KERNAN, HENRY S. RANDALL, and that stamp of men will be there from the interior.

REPORTER—Do you expect a fight?

GEN. GREEN—No, Sir; the Convention will be harmonious. Everything will be quiet and peaceable and orderly.

REPORTER—Do you expect to carry the State this Fall?

GEN. GREEN—Yes, Sir, there's no question but the Democratic ticket will be elected by a very handsome majority.

REPORTER—But if you put Tammany Hall out of the Convention, what will become of your majority in the City of New-York?

GEN. GREEN—We don't put Tammany Hall out, Sir. We simply ask Tammany Hall to throw overboard these men that have abused their trust and proved themselves corruptionists of the worst kind. Tammany Hall should send to the Convention such men as Charles O'Conor, Samuel J. Tilden, Augustus Schell, Horace F. Clark, Magnus Gross, Oswald Ottendorfer, James C. Spencer and others of that stamp, and the Tammany Association should break up the existing Ring and put men in control of their organization who are above suspicion. Should, however, Tammany Hall not send this class of men, and other organizations in New-York do, the Convention will in all probability keep out the former and admit the latter.

REPORTER.—I suppose SEYMOUR will be President of the Convention, will he not?

GEN. GREEN—In all probability GOV. SEYMOUR will be called upon to preside over the Convention.

REPORTER—What about the ticket to be nominated?

GEN. GREEN—Well, Sir, at this particular juncture, the Convention will be likely to select the best men in the party. We shall undoubtedly make a new ticket.

REPORTER—What is the feeling, General, among the Democrats of the rural districts in respect to New-York matters?

GEN. GREEN—So far as I have conferred with representative men in towns and counties there prevails but one opinion, and that is that the best men in the party throughout the State should come forward at this time and relieve all Ring managers of their control of the party, and put its organization in the hands of men in whom the people have learned to repose confidence. The truth is, Sir, the corrupt atmosphere which has surrounded Washington for the last eight or ten years has affected New-York as well, and unless its baneful influence is checked it will prove our party's ruin. All these Ring men who are tainted with corruption must take back seats. The people won't tolerate them in the councils of the party any longer.

REPORTER—What do you think of HOFFMAN'S chances for the Presidency?

GEN. GREEN—I've understood that the Sun has been authorized to withdraw him from the candidacy, and therefore I suppose he must be out of the question.

REPORTER—How do the delegates from Onondaga County stand on these questions?

GEN. GREEN—They will be a unit, Sir; acting with the good men of the party against any Ring. The truth is, Sir, if these New-York corruptionists do not step out of the position they occupy in the party, when the canvass opens your Republican orators will never cease to point to them. They will be the burden of their song. Your leaders have already foreshadowed a policy of this kind. We do not propose to go on the defensive in a political campaign. The party in the State will not tolerate municipal stealings, whether committed by Democrats or Republicans. The people are down on thieves, no matter to which party they chance to belong.

Here the interview was interrupted, and your correspondent withdrew. GOV. SEYMOUR is in town this evening, and the "old stagers" are in consultation with him. It is evident that the Tammany Democrats will not be handled tenderly at Rochester. Tammany odor is not pleasant in the country. S.

THE ROCHESTER CONVENTION.

The Delegates to the Rochester Convention.

The following list of the Democratic delegates, Tammany and anti-Tammany, will be useful at Rochester on Wednesday:

THE HONEST DELEGATES.

First District.

Delegate—George W. McLean, stock broker—well known as an honest man and a life-long Democrat.

German Democratic Union.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the German Democratic Union was held yesterday at Germania Hall, No. 200 Third-avenue, MAGNUS GROSS in the chair. Arrangements were made to send the delegation recently elected to the Democratic State Convention. Resolutions were also drawn up and adopted, which will be presented to the General Committee for confirmation at the next meeting.

THE TAMMANY THIEVES.

Life or Death to the Democratic Party—A Cry for Relief from the West.

From the Chicago Times, Sept. 29.

There is not a thieving internal revenue officer in the country but his criminal practices are known to Tammany. There is not an unprincipled member of Congress or of the New-York Legislature, whatever his party alliance, but is an agent and a tool of that all-potent gang of depredators upon the public. So long as these rogues serve Tammany, Tammany protects them. Let them but refuse the service and Tammany crushes them. It is thus that Tammany holds a club over the heads of many influential citizens, whose secret records are not what they ought to be, and who dare not turn against the gang, even if they had the disposition. Thus Tammany wields its enormous power by men's fears, as well as by their avarice, and corrupt New-York, hating, yet fearing, hesitates and trembles at this vast and evil power.

From that fountain of corruption and crime, the poison has spread all over the land. It is undermining all public virtue. It is destroying all faith in popular institutions. It is dishonoring our public life. It is contributing more than any other thing to the force that is steadily and surely sinking the political liberties of this people into centralization and despotic Government. To the many millions of liberty-loving citizens who look to the success of the principles professed by the Democratic Party as the only means of rescuing free government from this descent into monarchical consolidation, it proclaims: "It is impossible!"

Democratic principles can no more carry this curse of Tammany upon them than virtue can thrive in a brothel. It is perfect folly for any man to hope for the success of Democratic principles, in any portion of the country, while men professing to be the servants of those principles extend the hand of fellowship to the New-York Tammany Society. It is absurd, and worse than absurd, for the Democratic Party to maintain any longer an organization which recognizes even a collateral relationship to that in famous organization.

The Democracy of the West are looking with a last hope to the approaching New-York State Democratic Convention. Their hope is that that Convention will place its heel firmly, unhesitatingly and resolutely upon the throat of Tammany, and crush out its life to the fullest extent that the least particle of that life is derived from relationship to that party. There is no basis upon which any compromise between the Democratic Party and the existence of Tammany can be admitted. Tammany must die or the Democratic Party must die. This is the alternative necessity. There is no middle term. It will be for the Democratic State Convention in New-York to choose the conclusion.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer, Sept. 30.

The New-York Democratic State Convention meets at Rochester on the 4th of October, to nominate some State officers. The Convention will, however, have before it a more important duty than that of nominating a ticket of unexceptionable candidates. There is a scandal in New-York City, arising out of official villainy, that the Convention must deal with, and that, too, with hands mailed in iron. The Democracy everywhere are scandalized, mortified, overwhelmed with shame at the disgraceful conduct of certain New-York City leaders of the Democracy. They have been violating one of the most sacred tenets of the Democratic Party: Holding office as a sacred trust, they have been robbing the people they were sworn to protect. It will not do to pass this great crime over in silence as being a local grievance, nor because the Republicans are as deep in the mud as the Democrats are in the mire.

While it is true that no Democrat outside of the City of New-York, not owning property there, suffers pecuniarly by the robbery of the New-York City officials, and might, therefore, be supposed to be uninterested on the question whether the citizens of that place are robbed or not, still it is also true—would that it were not so—that the organization which has the reputation of ruling the City has obtained by its great services to the country and the Democratic Party, previous to this scandal, a reputation that attaches to the party generally and everywhere. It is due, therefore, not only to the principles of the Democratic Party, which have been so foully outraged by the New-York City officials, as also to the party itself, considered as a great, proud and historic organization, that the Democratic State Convention shall crush out with all its moral power the base men and their base deeds, that have brought disgrace upon the Democratic character.

There should not be the least hesitation in this matter, nor should there be the least mercy. Better defeat a thousand times than success under the auspices of public robbers, or by connection with them in any way that would have the appearance even of being tolerant of such rascality. The great distinctive characteristics of the American Democracy have been fidelity to constitutional obligations, and honesty and economy in the administration of government; and they should be maintained in all their vigor and purity. The Democracy, therefore, everywhere outside of the State of New-York, and we hope within it also, ask that the approaching Democratic State Convention that meets at Rochester next week, will deal with the New-York City scandal in a way that will honor the historic record of the party, and be a notice full of meaning and earnestness to all public plunderers that the Democratic Party has no place for them, and neither desires their company or support. Let the base knaves who have grown rich by stealing from the people continue rotten and disreputable, but not under the mantle of the Democratic Party.

From the San Francisco Bulletin, Sept. 23.

The prospect for reform which now opens upon New-York, shows what may be done in the cause of good government by an independent and public-spirited Press. Everybody in New-York knew the City Hall was a seat of rottenness and robbery, but until the TIMES began the daily publication of facts and figures, and aroused public sentiment to demand an explanation, nobody seemed to know how the evil might be reached and cured. Attempts were made to buy off the TIMES, and then to frighten it into silence by a vindictive suit assailing its property rights. But it could neither be bought nor intimidated, and Tammany is tottering before its unintermitting blows, and those, more tardily delivered, of other New-York journals. The wonder is that these papers did not years ago unite for the purification of local government, urge the co-operation of good citizens to that end, irrespective of party, and secure the Metropolis from the plunderers who have fattened on her ruin. Even now they fail distinctly and boldly to announce that partisan rule for a municipality is a blunder. If they would complete and perpetuate the work of reform begun so boldly, let them lead a movement for a league of tax-payers—for a genuine people's party—to nominate every year good men for municipal office, and to carry out a scheme of sensible and economical local government.

BUTLER'S BROKEN VOWS.

Disappointed Leaders of the Factions Besieging His Office—His Treachery.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BOSTON, Friday, Sept. 29, 1871.

BUTLER'S unexpected declaration at Worcester, after his overwhelming defeat, that he would abide by the decision of the Convention and not bolt, has raised a blinding storm of indignation about his unlucky head from the various factions—the Labor Reformers, the Temperance cliques and the Woman Suffragists—by whom it is asserted, notwithstanding the contradictions of his friends, he has repeatedly made to them the most explicit promises to run as a candidate, whether the regular Republican nominee or not, in return for their efforts in behalf of the Worcester nomination; and his spacious and—until Thursday morning—hospitable head-quarters in the quiet centre of Pemberton-square are besieged by angry leaders, who declare that they have been outrageously "sold out" and refuse to be comforted. It is pretty certain that his course was entirely his own, taken without consultation with his strongest backers, and surprised his best men in the Convention as completely as it did his opponents. This morning I have been around among some of the leaders of the various outside parties, and have learned the extent of the ambitious demagogue's treachery, and how successfully he has played his old games upon some of the unsuspecting party leaders.

WHAT THE LEADERS SAY.

The most indignant are the Labor Reformers, who are led by WENDELL PHILLIPS, and a few others, and with good reason, for from them BUTLER received the most valuable aid. On the strength of his promise that he would be their candidate in any event, they went into the caucuses and secured the election of Butler delegations to the Worcester Convention as far as they were able, and they put off their Convention until after that at Worcester at his express desire, though their own wish was to have it earlier and put the General in nomination. The leaders call the General—as many have called him before—"a contemptible coward," a "political swindler," and a "traitor," and seem quite anxious to disregard law and order and "go for him" after the manner of the boys of the street. The long-suffering women of the suffrage organization are also very bitter in denunciation of their recent champion. They, too, talk of broken promises and misplaced confidence. By these too-confiding supporters the General cannot at present be seen. His managers say in answer to callers that he hasn't yet recovered from the blow received at Worcester, and hint mysteriously at future arrangements that shall prove satisfactory to all.

THE COMING CONVENTIONS.

Next Wednesday the Labor Reformers hold their Nominating Convention at Framingham, and the Temperance people hold theirs in this city, within the Tremont Temple. At the former WENDELL PHILLIPS will preside. The platform—unless the majority should rule otherwise, which is hardly possible—will be of Mr. PHILLIPS' build, and the sum and substance of it I have been enabled to obtain. It declares "war with the wages system, which demoralizes alike the hirer and the hired, cheats both, and enslaves the working man; war with the present system of finance, which robs labor and gorges capital, makes the rich richer and the poor poorer, and turns a Republic into an aristocracy of millionaires; war with the system which pays women less than it does men for the same amount of work; war with those lavish grants of public lands to speculating companies, and announces that the party, if ever in power, pledges itself to use every just and legal chance to reserve all grants hereafter made; war with the system of enriching capitalists by the creation and increase of public interest-bearing debts, and demands that all public debts be paid at once in accordance with the terms of the contract and no more be created."

THE LABOR CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

It is proposed to make Judge COWLEY the candidate for Governor. He was an active Republican up to the formation of the Labor Reform Party. He was the first candidate of the party for Attorney-General. He is an Englishman by birth. He was formerly editor of the Lowell Courier. He went to the war, was Judge-Advocate in Admiral DAHLGREN'S fleet off Charleston, and was wounded at the storming of Fort Johnson in July, 1864. He has been the advocate of the ten-hour men before the Legislature, and won some laurels by carrying through a bill providing for the chartering of Labor Reform organizations. The leaders claim that they can rely on 15,000 votes, and are confident that the result of the Butler fight will be the addition of many more to their ranks.

THE TEMPERANCE PEOPLE.

The Temperance Convention will probably indorse WASHBURN, the Republican nominee. He is claimed as a Prohibitionist, and worthy of their votes. Had BUTLER been nominated at Worcester, there would have been a strong effort to indorse him, and, whatever had been the action of the Convention, he would have received very largely the support of the Radical Temperance men at the polls. To a few of the leaders of this faction he has also made promises, but they are not as down-hearted about his treachery as the others, because they half feared to give him their open support.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The town elections in Connecticut occur today.

K. J. MORRIS was re-elected Mayor of Nashville, Tenn., on Saturday by a large majority.

The Republicans of Madison County have nominated Judge CHARLES L. KENNEDY for re-election. GERRIT A. FORBES, of Canoctata, is the candidate for District Attorney.

On Saturday the Republicans nominated EDWARD BECKWITH in the Second, and ALBERT L. HAYES in the Fourth District of Oneida County, for members of the Assembly.

Hon. E. DARWIN SMITH was unanimously nominated in the Judicial Convention, held at Canandaigua, Saturday, for Justice of the Supreme Court for the Seventh Judicial District.

At the Democratic County Convention held at Horseheads, on Saturday, Hon. LUCIUS ROBINSON, of Elmira, was selected as the delegate to represent Chemung County in the Democratic State Convention.

The Atlanta True Georgian withdraws Gov. HOFFMAN'S name as a candidate for the Presidency, on account of "recent developments and events connected with the prospects of the Democratic Party."

The Republican nominations in Yates County are: For County Judge and Surrogate, Henry M. Stewart; District Attorney, Hanford Struble; Member of Assembly, George P. Lord; Sessions, Jacob H. Shepherd; Coroner, Joseph H. Beaumont.

The first regular meeting of the Fifth Ward Democratic Reform Association was held last Saturday evening at No. 99 Watts-street. Mr. P. F. MCSHANE presided. Speeches were made denouncing the Tammany Ring and eulogizing the action of the Citizens' Committee.

The first of the series of public discussions in Wisconsin, between Gen. WASHBURNE and Ex-Senator DOOLITTLE, will take place at Oshkosh to-morrow afternoon. The Republicans have selected as chairman Hon. JAMES G. JONES, and the Democrats, Hon. JOSEPH STRINGHAM.

The Republican Convention of the Seventh Judicial District met at Canandaigua Saturday morning, and immediately after its organization renominated Judge E. DARWIN SMITH for re-election as Justice of the Supreme Court. Judge SMITH has served since January, 1856, and has maintained a high position among the jurists of the country.

The Republicans of Allegheny County have placed in nomination the following ticket: For County Judge, JAMES S. GREEN, of Angelica; for District Attorney, Gen. RUFUS SCOTT, of Belmont; for Member of Assembly, WM. W. CRANDALL, of Andover; for Coroner, WM. R. THURMAN, of Bolivar; for Justice of Sessions, HIRAM DIMMICK, of Wirt.

The Democratic Convention in the Second District of Saratoga County split on the proposition to favor the renomination of Canal Commissioner CHAPMAN, and a double delegation will be present in the State Convention. And although Mr. CHAPMAN secured the delegate from the First (his own) Assembly District, there is much dissatisfaction at the means used to pack the caucus in some towns.

The renomination of Hon. RANSOM BALCOM for re-election as Justice of the Supreme Court in the Sixth District is cordially received in the district. The Elmira Advertiser says: "While Chemung County would have been gratified if one of her own prominent lawyers could have received the nomination, the next thing which all desired was that Judge BALCOM should continue in the place he has so long and honorably filled. Our County responds to the nomination with hearty good will, and will give to the nominee all the Republican votes it has, and we hope also a good many Democratic ones."

FROM THE PLATT-DEUTSCH OF FRITZ REUTER.

8vo. Paper, $1; Fine Cloth, $1 50.

"Fritz Reuter is one of the most popular writers in Germany. The charm of his stories lies in their simplicity and exquisite truth to nature. He is not graphic merely, he is photographic. His characters impress one so forcibly with their reality that one need not be told they are portraits from life. It ('During my Apprenticeship') is one of the best of Reuter's stories, exhibiting his turn for the pathetic as well as for the humorous."—New-York Evening Post.

AGENTS WANTED FOR

ROMANISM AS IT IS.

This book, an elegant octavo volume, containing 750 pages and 105 first-class engravings, is an exhaustive and standard work, eminently adapted to the times. It fully uncovers the Romish system from its origin to the present time, exposes its baseless pretences, its frauds, its persecutions, its immoralities, its opposition to our public schools, and civil and religious liberty; it shows its insidious workings, which strongly tend to bring this country under full Romish control. An entirely new and original work.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

The auctions to take place during the present week are as follows—the list being complete, as far as we have been enabled to so make it:

Today, Oct. 2, at the Exchange, JOSEPH MCGUIRE will offer at auction, by order of the Supreme Court, in foreclosure, under the direction of GRATZ NATHAN, Esq., referee, a one-half interest in twenty-four lots, lying between One Hundred and Twenty-first and One Hundred and Twenty-second streets, beginning at a point ninety-eight feet east of Avenue A. Eight of the lots front on the Harlem River, and with them the water rights will be disposed of. This sale was noticed for Wednesday last, but on that day was adjourned. Today, also, at the Exchange, JAMES M. MILLER, by order of the Supreme Court in foreclosure, under the direction of N. JARVIS, Jr., Esq., referee, will dispose of the right, title and interest in and to the West Side Elevated Railway. There are at present two suits in which judgments have been obtained against this road and a sale ordered. The first of those is that above referred to, while the second is granted by the Superior Court, and under this latter order, on Wednesday next, at the Exchange, Mr. MILLER, under the direction of JOHN C. BUSHNELL, Esq., referee, will conduct a second sale in connection with the road.

To-morrow, Tuesday, Oct. 3, at the Exchange, quite a number of sales are announced to occur, at which property will be offered as follows: By E. H. LUDLOW & Co., at public auction, the valuable plot of ground known as No. 58 Elm-street, on the north-west corner of Catherine; land in size 20 by 41.6 by 37.2 by 44.9. By M. A. J. LYNCH & HUGH N. CAMP, also at public auction, the three-story high-stoop brown-stone front house and lot No. 119 East Seventy-third-street, north side, 174 feet east of Fourth-avenue; lot 17.3 by 102.2, house 48 feet in depth. By JAMES M. MILLER, by order of the Supreme Court, in foreclosure, under the direction of THOMAS H. LANDON, Esq., referee, a house and lot on the north side of Seventeenth-street, 344 feet east of First-avenue; lot, 25 by 92. Also, under a similar Supreme Court order, under the direction of FRANCIS M. SCOTT, Esq., referee, one lot, 25 by 98.9, with the improvements thereon, located on the south side of Twenty-seventh-street, 100 feet east of Tenth-avenue. By JOSEPH MCGUIRE, under two several Supreme Court orders in foreclosure, JAMES H. COLEMAN, Esq., referee in both, a house and lot on the east side of Park or Fourth-avenue, 56 feet south of Fortieth-street; lot, 18 by 80; and a house and lot, the latter 25 by 92, on the north side of Seventeenth-street, 154 feet east of First-avenue. Mr. MCGUIRE will also offer for sale, by order of WM. A. COULTER, administrator, the three-story basement and cellar high-stoop brown-stone front house and lot known as No. 22 (old No. 16) First-place, Brooklyn, between Henry and Clinton streets. House in size, 21.9 by about 55, lot 21.9 by 133.5. In suburban sales A. D. MELLICK, JR., & BRO., to-morrow, at Uniontown, N. J., on the premises at 12 M., by order of the Jersey Land Improvement Company, will dispose of one hundred villa plots, each 50 by 150. Special train from foot of Cortlandt and Desbrosses streets at 10½ o'clock. Free passes to be obtained of auctioneers, No. 61 Pine-street, or at the office of Company, No. 111 Broadway, basement, room F. The property to be sold is on the line of the New-Jersey Railway, only one hour from the City, well situated, and the lots will be offered on very liberal terms.

On Wednesday, Oct. 4, at the Exchange, A. J. BLEECKER, SON & Co., by order of the Supreme Court, in foreclosure, under the direction of DOUGLASS CAMPBELL, Esq., referee, will dispose of an interest, said to be worth $150,000, in New-York property, described in the legal notice of sale as follows: All the right, title and interest that JACOB H. MOTT and JULIA M. HUNT, then JULIA M. MOTT, or ELLEN W. SOULE had in February, 1859, in a tract of land in the Twenty-second Ward of this City, known as the Hopper Farm, beginning at a point on the Hudson River at the centre of Fifty-third-street, and containing about fifty-three acres; also, in another tract of land in same Ward, on the east side of the Bloomingdale-road, beginning at a point in the centre of Fifty-second-street, containing about five and a half acres; also, in the house and lot on the west side of Chatham-street known as Nos. 162 and 164; and also in a house and lot situated on the south-west corner of Astor-place and the Bowery. This is the only sale to take place at the Exchange; but in country auctions two will be held, as follows: By A. D. MELLICK, JR. & BRO., at Arlington, N. J., on the ground, at 12½ P. M., 100 handsomely located and desirable building lots, and a cottage already erected on the property; fifteen lots, on which is a grove of large trees, will be sold in one parcel. Special train from foot of Chambers-street at 11½, and from Twenty-third-street at 11¼ A. M. Arlington is on the line of the Erie Railway, between Clifton and Lake View, forty-eight minutes from New-York, and for the purposes of a country residence the location is an attractive one. By WINANS, SANDS & GARRETSON, at the Court-house in White Plains, Westchester County, by order of the Supreme Court, in foreclosure, under the direction of RICHARD M. HENRY, Esq., referee, a farm of choice land, containing seventy acres, with buildings thereon, situate in the town of New-Rochelle, in county named, on the east side of the highway leading from White Plains to New-Rochelle, and bounded by the lands of Philip Ritchie, R. C. Butler, N. Davenport, Jas. P. Huntington and Jonathan Waring.

On Thursday, Oct. 5, S. DINGEE will sell at public auction at the Exchange in this City a valuable Brooklyn property, embracing seven building lots located on the north-west corner of Atlantic and Rochester avenues, together forming a plot in size 139 by 93.7 by 162.8 by 96. Messrs. JOHNSON & MILLER will also on Thursday conduct a second sale of lots at Richmond Hill, Long Island, at which some 150 lots, the balance remaining unsold from last week's transactions, will be offered at auction; sale on the premises at noon. Maps of property, railway tickets and all particulars can be had of the auctioneers, No. 25 Nassau-street. The lots offered are in every respect desirable and the success attending the auction of Thursday last is a sure guarantee that those now to be disposed of will be in demand.

On Friday, Oct. 6, at the Exchange, JAMES M. MILLER, by order of the Supreme Court in foreclosure, under the direction of THOS. H. LANDON, Esq., referee, will dispose of a lot, with improvements, on the north side of Fifty-ninth-street, 400 feet west of Ninth-avenue; lot 25 by 100.

Saturday, Oct. 7, business for the week will conclude with a suburban auction, to be held at Pleasantville, in Westchester County, a village twenty-nine miles from the Forty-second-street depot, on the line of the Harlem Railway. The sale will take place at the new railway depot in the village named, and the following property will be offered by JAMES M. MILLER, auctioneer: One hundred and sixty-three plots and lots in Pleasantville, located respectively on Rebecca-avenue, on the Harlem Railroad, and on Church, Tompkins, Monroe, Jackson and Vermilye streets; also, a country-seat, with fifteen acres of land and a dwelling-house, near the depot, on Church-street. The proposed transaction is one of some importance.

By A. D. Mellick, Jr., & Bro.,

Auctioneers and dealers in New-Jersey real estate, No. 6 Pine-st., New-York.
WEDNESDAY, OCT. 4,
AT 12½ P. M., ON THE PREMISES,
Absolute and important sale, by order of W. H. Hamilton, of

100 ELEGANTLY LOCATED

Building lots, and a neat and attractive cottage containing ten rooms, with lot 75x105, at

ARLINGTON, N. J.,

Between Clifton and Lake View, forty-eight minutes from New-York by the popular Erie Railroad. The situation of this property is most desirable. Commencing at the railroad, it extends across Dundee Drive to the banks of the CHARMING DUNDEE LAKE.

The situation is very high, and unequaled for beauty. Station on the property. There will also be offered in one parcel fifteen lots, comprising an attractive grove of large trees, situated on a bold elevation on the very bank of the lake, commanding a view of rare beauty, extending from the Ramapo Hills to Heights of Jersey City.

Splendid music by Grafulla's Seventh Regiment Band. Remarkably easy terms; seventy per cent. on bond and mortgage. Special train will leave at foot of Chambers-st. at 11½, and 23d-st. at 11¼ A. M. Luncheon on arrival of the train. For maps, passes and full particulars apply to

THE MOULTON CONCERTS.

Mrs. CHARLES MOULTON, so long distinguished in European and American art circles for her matchless vocal powers and thorough culture, having been prevailed upon to appear in public, the management takes pleasure in announcing a series of
MOULTON CONCERTS,
COMMENCING ON MONDAY EVENING, Oct. 16,
AT STEINWAY HALL.
This limited engagement, effected with America's most gifted songstress, was completed after her persistent refusal of the most liberal offers from the first managers of Europe, Mrs. Moulton having determined to make her debut in her own country.
Aware of the high esteem in which her talent is held by musicians and critics, the management is satisfied that the announcement of Mrs. Moulton's professional appearance will be received with unqualified approval. The concerts will be arranged with a due regard to the position and reputation of the artiste, engagements having been effected with artists of the highest ability.

BALLAD CONCERTS,

AT STEINWAY HALL,
MONDAY, OCT. 9; TUESDAY, OCT. 10;
WEDNESDAY, OCT. 11, AND
THURSDAY, OCT. 12.
Mr. GEORGE DOLBY, in order to give to his novel series of Ballad Concerts—which includes also Glees and Madrigals—that high standard of excellence which shall gain the approval of the cultivated audiences of the United States, has engaged for his American tour the following artists, whose eminence has been cordially indorsed by the public and the Press of England, Ireland and Scotland:
Miss EDITH WYNNE, Soprano.
Mme. PATEY, Contralto.
Mr. W. H. CUMMINGS, Tenor.
Mr. J. G. PATEY, Bass.
Mr. SANTLEY, Baritone.
Piano-forte—Mr. LINDSAY SLOPER.
Mr. DOLBY believes that concerts in the language of the country—the selections being from the highest sources, both old and new, and interpreted by eminent artists, familiar with the schools—will be acceptable to the American people, and will secure a generous patronage; and that the part singing—glee and madrigal—brought to the nicest perfection of expression and tone-coloring by constant practice, will prove a popular and attractive feature of the Ballad Concerts.
The Concerts will commence each evening at 8 o'clock.
Admission, $1. Reserved seats, 50 cents and $1 extra, according to location.
The sale of tickets will commence at Steinway Hall this day, Monday, Oct. 2, at 9 o'clock A. M.

The Sham Campaign—Latest Manœuvres of the Contending Forces—Opinion of Foreign Officers—The Value of Neatness—Humors of the War—The Queen's Health—Political Matters.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LONDON, Saturday, Sept. 16, 1871.

The Autumn manœuvres have now reached their most interesting stage. An invading army is supposed to be menacing London, and the defending force—which, threatened on both flanks, had retired from Aldershot to the moorlands round Chobham—has plucked up heart again, and is, as I write, making a gallant stand on the Hog's Back, a great ridge of green sand, (to speak geologically,) which heaves itself above the plain like a huge natural wall or bulwark. Such a strong natural position could not possibly be neglected. On the north side, where the defenders are, the summit is approached by soft, easy, grassy slopes, while on the other side it presents a precipitous rugged front to the enemy. No troops could live under such a fire as could be directed upon them from the summit of this strong natural fortification—some six miles long—and a direct attack from the front is not to be thought of. The invaders will, therefore, I presume, have to concentrate their efforts on turning the British Army in flank, and this is the operation, the result of which as I write, is still hanging in the balance. We are supposed to be in a dreadful state of suspense here in London, and telegrams are read with beating hearts. HOPE GRANT, the commander, whom we have to trust for our safety, is reported to be making a gallant resistance, but the enemy, though repulsed at several points, is resolute and persistent. There is a rumor that a dash at Farnham has broken the communications of the foe, who is now divided into two parts, each fighting to its own hand and in danger of being overwhelmed by a sudden desperate concentration of the bulk of SIR HOPE GRANT'S forces. There are altogether some 35,000 men of all arms in the field, the two divisions who represent the enemy numbering 20,000, and the remainder composing the army of defense. It was only yesterday that the combined movements commenced in earnest, but during the week there has been plenty of marching and counter-marching, striking tents, and pitching them again, moving out to attack in force, feeling for the enemy, falling back in slow and quick time, reconnoissances, grand guards, patrols, and so on, to enable the officers to get their men well in hand, and to exercise the wind and the legs of the latter. To describe these things in detail would, I am sure, only weary you, though they excite great interest, and are eagerly studied in the newspaper narratives, and discussed both by civilians and military men.

LONDON THREATENED.

I have given you a general idea of the campaign, and will only add a few words as to the manner in which it is being conducted. Every morning, or, perhaps, with an interval of a day, a brief sketch of the military situation is issued by the Duke of CAMBRIDGE, the Commander-in-Chief, who takes no part in the contest, but sits in judgment as chief umpire. Thus, on Thursday, the leaders of the contending forces were informed that the basis of their movements must be the supposition that the invader having landed on the south coast, had refused the direct roads to London, and was endeavoring to turn the strong positions between Reigate, Dorking and the Hog's Back, and so to gain the valley of the Thames and march upon the capital. Next day the commander of the defending force having got information of the position and estimated strength of the enemy's advanced corps, breaks up his camp at Chobham and advances to the edge of the table land, threatening the communications of the enemy and throwing out cavalry in all directions. On Friday the enemy's advance corps continues its retreat and effects a junction with the main body near Frensham, some six miles south of the Hog's Back. The defending force still pushes on, and occupies the Hog's Back with its advanced posts. This morning the bulletin is to the effect that the British Army having failed in intercepting the enemy's advanced corps and preventing its junction with the main body, has occupied a strong defensive position on the Hog's Back and obtained reinforcements of artillery. The enemy has effected its junction, and finding itself in superior force, is making a combined attack, with especial view to turning the right of the defending force by a flank movement. This skeleton sketch the commanders of the attacking and defending forces are required to fill up for themselves, at their own discretion and on their own responsibility. They must send out scouts to obtain information as to the exact positions taken up by the other side, must decide for themselves on what points they will deliver their assault or concentrate their defense, and must keep continually on the alert by night as well as day, in order to guard against a surprise, and be ready to take advantage of any rash or blundering movement of the enemy. The Duke of CAMBRIDGE, as I have said, is chief umpire, and decides with whom the victory of the day has rested. He is assisted by a very distinguished and able staff in the discharge of this duty, which involves the settlement of a great many delicate and difficult questions, such as how fast the troops may advance under artillery fire, (assuming it to be real and not blank cartridge,) whether the regular rules of warfare are observed as in the field, when a body of men may be supposed to have been cut off, and so on. All these arrangements are modeled very closely on those of the grand manœuvres of the Prussian Army. The employment of umpires is supposed to give zest to the game—it makes the difference between playing for stakes and playing for fun. But it has its disadvantages. Human nature being what it is, the decision of the umpires is sure to be resented on one side or the other. No amount of reasoning will ever convince a soldier that he is beaten, and English soldiers have a traditional reputation for stubbornness in resisting this conviction. A great deal of jealousy, heart-burning and rankling sense of injustice will, I am afraid, attend the verdicts of the military jury. In Prussia this has certainly been found to be the case, and I have heard high authorities who have had good opportunities of studying the working of the system, pronounce against it on this ground. Besides, it is scarcely possible, in certain cases, to give a fair decision. A movement may be reasonable or unreasonable, just according to the amount of dash and devilry with which it is performed. And how is this to be determined except by the actual crossing of bayonets or pelting fire? In mimic warfare everything is in favor of the commander who acts strictly according to established rules. There is no room for the display of the inspiration of genius which has so often determined not only the fate of a battle, but of a campaign. Such movements as those of the Prussians at Spicheren and Gravelotte would, I am afraid, be condemned by a jury of cocked hats in a make-believe fight.

OPINION OF FOREIGN OFFICERS.

A distinguished body of officers of all nations has been collected at Aldershot, on the invitation of the Commander-in-Chief, to witness the manœuvres. They are lodged at the Queen's Hotel, and are entertained in very good style. Each morning they have horses and carriages at command, in order to visit the most interesting point of the day's proceedings. Major-Gen. J. G. BARNARD and Capt. S. S. SUMNER represent the United States; Gen. BLUMENTHAL, who was Chief of the Staff to the Crown Prince of Prussia during the late war, and Major VON ALTEN, one of the Emperor of Germany's Adjutants, have come over from Berlin; France has sent a couple of Lieutenant-Colonels, one of infantry and one of artillery; Austria, Portugal, Russia, Spain and Turkey are also represented. The foreign critics are naturally very reserved in the expression of their opinions, and, like the sailor's parrot, don't say much, but "think a great deal." They prefer to point out to their hosts the pleasant aspects of the campaign, and to say all the good they can. But, from all I hear, there is plenty of room for criticism of all kinds, and some friends have let out some hints of this. One of the Prussian officers has expressed a decided opinion that Englishmen waste too much time and trouble on mere show, brushing up and burnishing of the troops as if they were a coffee-kettle or some piece of bright drawing-room furniture. And, to a certain extent, he is right. I fancy there is apt to be something demoralizing in letting the troops go about "anyhow," and that smartness has a high moral value. But surely sufficient smartness could be obtained without so much scouring and pipe-clay. What can be more absurd than to see a soldier compelled to get up an hour earlier than would otherwise be necessary, in order to rub damp pipe-clay into his belts or gloves, and then put the things aside to dry, so as to be ready for parade? A shower of rain plays sad havoc with an equipment got up in this fashion, and the nasty white stuff comes off on his coat or breeches, and makes more work for him in brushing it out of the cloth. About half the troops now carry the new infantry wallet slung round the back instead of perched on the nape of the poor fellow's neck; but those who are still condemned to the old pack suffer not only from the uncomfortable position in which it is adjusted, but from the tight straps round his armpits, which are used to keep it steady. And yet again, regiments are still to be seen choked with the tight, hard, throat-cutting leather stock! Its use is discountenanced by the more intelligent officers, but martinets of the old school still seem to have a discretionary power of inflicting this cruel and wanton punishment on their unfortunate men. Another point to which foreign criticisms have been directed is the carelessness of our troops in regard to exposing themselves to an enemy's fire. They never seem to pick their ground in order to take advantage of cover, or throw up little lines of earth or clay to protect skirmishers. The artillery seems to have excited a good deal of legitimate admiration. Most of the guns are the new muzzle-loaders, breech-loaders having been generally condemned, as in many ways inconvenient and even dangerous.

THE HUMORS OF THE CAMPAIGN.

Of course there are plenty of stories in circulation through the various camps. At Hartford Flats, the Prince of WALES took it into his head to go round the lines one night with an aide-de-camp. As he passed one of the militia sentries, who was slouching about with his gun under his arm, the fellow made no salute but just stared at him. "Don't they teach you to salute a general officer?" asked the Prince. "Well," said the militia man very coolly, "now you mention it I think they do. But you came round the corner in such a deuced hurry, I hadn't time to do it, and it isn't worth while now." Another militia-man who was on sentry duty challenged some one who was passing through the camp, declaring that the Sergeant had told him he must not allow anybody to pass who did not say "Newcastle." "That's the word, you know," he added, innocently, and the intruder, thus provided with the pass, of course, mentioned the name and went on. Perhaps the best story, however, is one which the Prussians have brought over. An old General in their service the other day addressed a regiment as follows: "Now, my men, we have got over the war, there is no more fun for us, and we must settle down to serious drill." Among the practical jokes of the campaign has been the capturing of prisoners on both sides. The hussars have several times been down on the "heavies," and the temper of the Life Guards, still sore about the stampede of their horses, has been further ruffled by a number of troopers and an officer having been carried off prisoners by the enemy. A militia regiment has also been surrounded by the foe, greatly to its amazement and disgust. The Colonel is reported to have said that he didn't think this gentlemanly conduct on the part of the enemy, and that they should have given warning, when he would have put his men in a position to repel attack.

THE QUEEN'S HEALTH.

This will be almost entirely a military letter, I see, but I must add a few words about civil matters. We are still rather anxious about the Queen, who had no sooner recovered from the dangerous symptoms about the throat, which seemed to threaten diphtheria, than she began to suffer from an abcess in the arm. This has been opened, but the operation proved rather more troublesome than was anticipated, and the Queen, through this complication of troubles, is very weak and exhausted. The impression caused by the unpleasant remarks which were lately made about her Majesty's secluded life, and the general behavior of Royalty, also helped to deepen the depression which overcame her. The frankness of the medical reports which have just been issued, encourages the hope that the Queen is now fairly on the road to recovery, though her progress will be slow, but they also show that she has been much worse than was imagined. Her Majesty has not yet been seen in public, but has occasionally driven out through the extensive private grounds of Balmoral, where she will remain for some time longer.

POLITICAL MATTERS.

There has been a second election for the House of Commons since Parliament was prorogued, and again the Government have lost and the Opposition have gained a seat. It does not follow that if there was a general election Mr. GLADSTONE'S majority would be seriously diminished. Everything would depend upon the precise issue set before the country. All that these two defeats can be said to prove is that there is a general feeling of irritation and dissatisfaction against the Ministry. For some they are too slow; for the country generally they are too fast. They want to upset too many established arrangements, and to do it in too great a hurry, and the English people being, as a rule, creatures of routine, and distressed and frightened a little when put out of their usual ways, has taken umbrage. The country is sulky. It is angry with GLADSTONE, and there are no signs that it has fallen in love with DISRAELI. The people are now doing a capital trade, and are generally prosperous, and would be glad of a little political rest. If there were anybody like Lord PALMERSTON, he would have a good chance now. There are not a few who would like to run Lord DERBY, if he would consent, as leader of an amalgamated force of moderate Liberals and Conservatives.

THE THEATRES.

The theatrical season may be said to have commenced this week. All the chief theatres have now reopened for the Winter, with the exception of Drury Lane, which is getting a new Walter Scott spectacle, founded on Ivanhoe. Three new pieces have been produced, but they are very little worth. "Apple Blossoms" at the Vaudeville is another attempt by Mr. ALBERY to walk in the line cut out by the late Mr. ROBERTSON. But it is clear as yet that he has not ROBERTSON'S adroitness in putting a plot together, and keeping up sufficient movement on the stage to amuse the audience. Mr. ALBERY sets down his characters in a row, as it were, and keeps them firing off what he considers smart things at each other and to the audience. "Hinko," at the Queen's, is an ingenious and unquestionably clever but woefully dull historical drama—time, 1380; scene, Bohemia—founded on a play of Mme. BIRCH PFEIFFER'S and worked up by Mr. W. G. WILLS. Mr. and Mrs. HERMAN VEZIN play the chief parts, but it is dismally uphill work for everybody concerned, and can't last. Mr. BATEMAN has taken the Lyceum, for the purpose of showing off Miss ISABEL BATEMAN, but I expect a little of Miss BATEMAN will go a long way with English audiences, or, to put it otherwise, that English audiences will go a long way to avoid having ever so little of Miss BATEMAN. She is fond of attitudinizing under the lime light, very much bismuthed as to face and arms, settles down on her words as if she liked the look of the place and meant to stop there a week or two, and in fact represents stageyness in its most confirmed and unpleasant form. She appears in a version of GEORGE SAND'S "Petite Fadette," which is, I think, new in London. "Fadette" is the essence of vivacity and espièglerie, and Miss BATEMAN could not find a part less fitted for her.

THE THEATRE IN FRANCE.

First Nights and Their Importance—Paris Dramatists and Actresses.

Correspondence of the London Daily News.

The first night of the performance of a new piece is a tremendous event here. It is called especially First—just as we give to one particular kind of success the name of Double First. For a whole year there has been no First here. The playgoing public have been pining for a First, and at last they have had their wish. There have been two or three small Firsts not worth speaking of, and one of some importance, though it was not particularly successful, at the Gymnase Theatre. The position of this theatre in the Parisian world is remarkable and worthy of study. It stands second to the Théâtre Français, and in some respects it stands first. The Théâtre Français is, in its way, perfect. It plays the classics—MOLIERE, RACINE, VOLTAIRE, BEAUMARCHAIS, SCRIBE, DE MUSSET, VICTOR HUGO. It is academic in its character, and one finds there all that in the past has gone to the making of French taste. The plays are classical—acknowledged masterpieces—and the acting is very refined. But—may I venture to say so—amid so much perfection, I very often find myself bored to death. You see there human life—but you do not see modern life. There is an ancient air about everything. Not only are the plays ancient, but, to say the least, the artists are not young. One loses some interest—there is a want of verisimilitude—when one sees the young hero and young heroine of the play personated forever by actors and actresses of ripe years and bulging proportions. To deal with modern life in all its helter-skelter, its charms, its aims and its catastrophes, we must leave the Rue Richelieu; we must turn to less classic ground. The two foremost dramatists of the day are VICTORIEN SARDOU and ALEXANDRE DUMAS, the younger. As a constructor of plays, SARDOU is the abler and more popular of the two; he has the wider range, being wonderfully fertile in picturesque situations. But ALEXANDRE DUMAS is altogether a greater man—he writes better, he thinks deeper, he has more command of passion, and he reaches more intimately to the heart of modern life. It may seem absurd to say such a thing to superficial English readers, who are shocked at the mere names of his pieces, but the fact is that he is eminently a moralist. We may not always be in accord with his morality—but if we read him carefully, we shall find a certain elevation of tone about all his work—always a clear moral aim. In every play of his he tackles some great moral problem, and drives home his solution of it to the hearts of his audience with a fervor which is very impressive, and which the fine aroma of his dialogue makes memorable. And above all, ALEXANDRE DUMAS, has more than any living writer given prominence to that feminine interest, which occupies so large a space in modern fact and fiction. Now the theatrical home of the great dramatist, with his moral purpose, with his feminine interest, and with his delicious dialogue, is the Gymnase Theatre, which from this point of view may be regarded as the first theatre in France—the first in the world. All his plays belong to the repertory of this theatre, which rarely if ever mounts a play for a principal piece that has not been written by him, or that has not been inspired by his manner. The plays are put upon the stage with the most careful attention to furniture and dress, so that the moment the curtain rises we feel that here is the very world in which we move—the world of today. If one wants to see the newest fashion for beautiful dresses, whether for the drawing-room or for out of doors, go to the Gymnase Theatre. As for the actresses who appear in these dresses, the Gymnase has produced quite a school of its own. At the present moment the foremost among them are Mlle. DESCLEE, Mme. FROMENTIN, Mlle. PIERSON and Mlle. MASSIN. But there are others spread over the world. Thus, Mlle. DELAPORTE, who for some years took the principal part in the plays of M. DUMAS, has been lured away to become the leading actress in St. Petersburg; and now Mme. PASCA, another brilliant performer in the same series, has, much to the regret of Paris, been enticed to follow in her footsteps toward the north. The question is, how long will the Gymnase be able to keep Mlle. AIMEE DESCLEE and Mlle. BLANCHE PIERSON, upon whom the Theatre Francais, with its vast resources and its seductive promises of pension, is said to have cast covetous eyes? The former of these ladies is comparatively new to Paris as an actress of ability. It is true that she began in Paris early, but she made her reputation in St. Petersburg; and it is only eighteen months ago that she sprung like a mine upon the French capital in the part of Frou Frou. It is difficult to imagine an artist whose style could be better suited to plays of the Dumas type—a style which combines remarkable force with quietness; passion, with an air of indifference; subtlety, with ease and aplomb—every look, every gesture, every intonation of every phrase reminding one of a clear cut billiard ball making its angles off the cushion with infallible precision and sidling no one knows how, into some unexpected cannon. The refinement of the performance is quite extraordinary, and worthy of the exquisite finish which the author has given to his dialogue. It was at the Gymnase that the new play was produced, giving the Parisians after a year of fasting the pleasure once more of a First. It is entitled "Marcelline," and it attempts to follow in the Dumas order of ideas; but really there is not much to be said about it. The situations are given by the author with a certain degree of precision; but the motives which lead up to them are not sufficiently developed, and the dialogue on which the play proceeds is rather commonplace. The piece does not afford much scope for acting to any one, but Mlle. DESCLEE brings to bear upon it all her ingenuity and refinement, and by sheer intellectual force keeps the play alive. The other performers in it go very nearly for nothing, if we except Mme. FROMENTIN, who, however, spite of her great talent, could make little of her part, which would sink into oblivion were it not for the brilliant dresses which are attached to it. It is rather hard to say of an excellent actress that we remember only her toilet; but it is not her fault.

Arrival of the Inman Steam-Ship City of Paris.

The Inman steam-ship City of Paris, which left Liverpool on Sept. 21, and Queenstown on Sept. 22, reached this port yesterday. Her dates are later by three days than those previously received by the Bremen steamer.

Hackmen have made numerous complaints to Inspector JONES about the inconvenience of getting into the new Fulton ferry-house. A considerable turn has to be made, and it is no uncommon occurrence for several dozen vehicles to get blocked, locked and smashed. As a remedy, they propose to tear up one of the Coney Island Railroad tracks.

Rev. Dr. J. T. DURYEE, in the Classon-avenue Presbyterian Church, yesterday, delivered an address on the subject of Christian education. No parent, he said, had a right to contemplate any speciality for their children. The Republic never contemplated common schools as a true source of education, but rather as a means of morality on as fair a level as possible.

On Saturday, THOMAS B. BRADY, an impudent fellow, was fined, in Justice VOORHIES' Court, Williamsburg, $10 or ten days, for assaulting THOMAS SMITH. On going out of the Court-room Mr. BRADY imprudently swore at the Judge, and treated his sentence with contempt. The penalty and term of imprisonment were thereupon doubled, and Mr. BRADY was conducted to the prison-van.

Col. WM. L. SHUTTLEWORTH, of the United States Marine service, was buried on Saturday afternoon from No. 270 Cumberland-street. Col. SHUTTLEWORTH was fifty-nine years of age, and had been in the service about thirty-eight years. The funeral services were conducted by Chaplain HENDERSON and Rev. Mr. MEREDETTI, and the interment was made in Green-Wood. A battalion of Marines acted as escort.

The new light-house on Long Beach Bar, is finally under way. The house has been enclosed, and the iron frame for the light put in position.

The first anniversary of Golden Circle Lodge, No. 104, I. O. of O. C., Williamsburgh, will be held in the Presbyterian Church, Noble-street, Greenpoint, to-morrow.

Today the Poppenhausen Institute will be thrown open to young men over fifteen years of age, (residents of Flushing,) for free instruction. Mr. CONRAD POPPENHAUSEN, the founder of the Institute, presented the building, besides endowing the corporation with $200,000.

Saturday morning a fire was discovered in the cow stables connected with FLEISCHMAN & Co.'s distillery, Long Island City, and within five minutes, a line of filthy cow sheds was in flames. The line of sheds burned were occupied by ROBERT GRADY, and he says there were but nineteen cows in them at the time of the fire. Another party uninterested, says there were 300. A man named PATRICK DILSON occupied one end of the shed as a shelter for his horse and cart, both of which were burned. Four families occupied two shanties adjoining the shed, and they were burned out and lost everything they had.

STATEN ISLAND.

The fishermen are doing well just now, catching black fish and bass near the shores around Staten Island.

The Circuit Court will open at Richmond to-morrow, when the cases of the two mates indicted for the murder of a sailor on board the ship Thomas Dunham will come up before Judge PRATT.

NEW-JERSEY.

CHARLES TURBETT, of No. 147 Walnut-street, was intrusted by his employers with $120 to pay workmen's wages, of which amount he kept $20 75. He was held to bail.

An unknown man fell dead upon the iron steps at the foot of Franklin-street, near the Sub-station yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. When discovered, the man was entirely dead.

GEORGE CAMWELL, of No. 64 Court-street, a jeweler, in the employ of CARTER, HOPKINS & DODD, was committed in Justice MILLS' Court, Newark, on Saturday, on the charge of stealing $30 worth of gold wire and scraps.

Mr. RICHARD WATERS, of Jersey City, locked his son up in a room for disobedience. Next morning the boy had vanished. Mr. WATERS has searched incessantly and in vain for the lad ever since. On Saturday last he received a letter from his brother in Ohio, saying that the boy had arrived there, having walked every step of the way, begging and stealing his food.

Yesterday, Officer STEVLING found two men in the ticket-office of the New-Jersey Railroad Company. They had been at work trying to open the safe to get at the money which was left therein by the receiver. They gave their names, EDWARD DALTON and THOS. GRIFFIN. They were held by Justice KEESE for further examination.

JAMES GREY was arrested in Jersey City last night, charged with assaulting his wife with a hatchet at No. 74 Essex-street. On attempting to arrest him he attacked Officer ANNESS with the hatchet, and the officer was obliged to draw his revolver on the man before he could secure him.

THOMAS HUNT, who has worked in one of the machine-shops for five years past, and has three pretty children by his Paterson wife, was astonished on Saturday by the appearance of another woman, all the way from England, who proved beyond a question her priority of title. There was trouble about the house, and HUNT was taken to jail.

ARMY AND NAVY RECORD.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The Second Controller has decided that men enlisting into the Navy in a foreign country are entitled to transportation to their places of enlistment the same as if enlisting in the United States.

The construction put by the Second Controller upon the law of March 2, 1871, with reference to staff officers relieved for length of service, is that the rank of Commodore can only be claimed after the act of retirement is completed, and consequently carries no increased pay with it. The Second Controller also decides that an officer of the Navy, promoted under the seventh section of the act of July 15, 1870, is entitled to the pay provided under that act only on and after the passage of the act, although he may be entitled to the advanced rank prior thereto.
